May Have Smashed Invasion Attempt

LONDON, Oct. 21.—A possibility that Britain's royal air force may have smashed another German invasion attempt last night was seen here today.

British bombers unexpectedly gave the German invasion bases on the French side of the English channel the worst pounding they have had since September 16th, when the first Nazi attempt to invade England was so successfully nipped in the bud.

A total of 15,000 bombs were dropped on the German coastal positions with 24 hours. At one time, the British bombs were being rained down at the rate of 100 per minute.

Conditions Good For Invasion

The fact that weather conditions in the channel were perfect for an invasion attempt may have prompted the R. A. F.'s terrific assault.

Mist hung low over the Strait of Dover all day. During the night it thickened, shrouding the calm sea that was stirred only slightly by a northeasterly breeze.

British long range guns started pounding the French coast first. For

Fire Apparatus Contracts Let Golden Jubilee Event Observed

New Combination Truck And Pumper To Be Secured For City

City council met in the municipal building today and awarded contracts for a new fire apparatus.

A contract was awarded J. R. Tick Motor Car company for a chassis and cab at a bid of $12,589.50.

A contract was given W. S. Darley & Company for a Champion triple combination pump, booster, hose and ladder apparatus, plus accessories at a bid of $2,299.59.

The awards were recommended by Safety Director D. O. Davies, Director of property (and also purchasing agent) J. D. Alexander and Finance Director J. Leon Fink.

Delivery will be made within 90 days.

At present the Third ward apparatus is said to be obsolete. There is also another allegedly obsolete apparatus which formerly was housed in the Fourth ward.

Council has not yet gone on record as stating whether or not the Croton Fire department will be abandoned.

PA NEW OBSERVES

The wise saying of "The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence" was ably demonstrated Sunday afternoon by one cow on the Harlansburg road, who was stretching her neck beneath a heavy barbed wire fence to nibble at the grass on the other side of the fence, although the rest of the herd seemed to be content with the pasture feeding within the fence boundaries.

One East Side woman was preparing for colder weather Saturday afternoon as she removed her porch plants and blooms to safer inside quarters. Other families have just covered their plants with blankets or rugs, probably expecting warmer weather before they remove the plants indoors.

Forever green pine and fir trees can best be appreciated these days for their striking beauty, as they are remaining the famed green amidst the various other trees and shrubs who are shedding their leaves and finery in the approaching cold weather breezes. This is especially true when viewing nearby hillside scenes, the green of the evergreens shows right through a mass of yellow and brown of other trees.

Apparently in an effort to speed completion of resurfacing of Croton avenue, workmen were engaged in relaying brick on the street near the East Washington street intersection yesterday.

Some idea of the amount of traffic that goes over the North street bridge could be gained on Saturday, when there was congestion most of the day on East Washington street at the bridge over the Neshannock.

Nazi Raiders Come Over City Singly Or In Pairs During Day

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Swift, single-engine German raiders ran a gauntlet of intense anti-aircraft fire to drop more bombs on London today in reprisal for stunning R. A. F. attacks during the night.

Two new daylight air raid alarms screamed in London—the 241st and 242nd since the war began—as the Nazi attackers came over the city alone or in pairs.

Brief Raids

Both raids, however, were brief and damage was small.

The new assaults on the British capital were unleashed after Britain's air ministry announced R. A. F. raids that spread from Berlin to northern Italy and along the North Sea coast, where bombs fell during the night at the rate of 100 a minute.

After the second alarm in London this afternoon, the roar of raiding planes flying through the heaviest eruption of anti-aircraft fire yet witnessed set up an eerie splitting din that echoed and re-echoed through the streets.

Several London districts were bombed during the day's raids.

In a southern coastal town five workmen were killed by bombs before a raid there was under way.

Other bombs fell on a large residential estate in the home counties surrounding London, causing a number of casualties.

Ten persons were injured and one was killed in a raid on a north-western town.

TRI-STATE SENDS DELEGATES HERE

Golden jubilees are usually pleasant affairs and the Golden Jubilee of Local 270, International Typographical Union, held Saturday night in The Castleton hotel was a jubilee to be remembered. It not only marked fifty years of organized labor service for the local union but it also marked the opening of the first Tri-State Conference of I. T. U. men.

The local which celebrated Saturday night was something different than the local which was organized back in 1890. Back in October of that year a group of young printers met in the corridor of the jail (of all places) and decided to band themselves together. In the group were W. P. Miller, Fred L. Renitz, B. F. Butler, Norris D. Pyle, John W. White, John P. Quinn and John A. Leathers. Today the local is strongly organized and an active unit of the international body.

One Of Originals

For the conference dinner Saturday night one of the organizers of the local was the toastmaster, Fred L. Renitz, president of The News. Another original, B. F. Butler was unable to be present, due to ill health. The dinner itself was one that the printers said was tops, chicken and a host of goodies to go with it.

The invocation for the dinner was pronounced by O. A. Rodgers who also introduced the toastmaster, Mr. Renitz. Mr. Renitz recounted the early days of the local.

Army Has Large Supply Of Vital Material Ordered

Over Three And Half Billion Dollars Worth Reported As "On Order"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The army now has $3,500,000,000 worth of vital material "on order" and is doing everything humanly possible to spur deliveries, a survey disclosed today.

Procurement officers, in an informal progress report, said that contracts for that huge sum have been let since inauguration of the current preparedness buying program last July. This leaves $2,000,000,000 available in army funds, they said.

Most of this money is to go for long range defense spending, primarily for construction of new or enlarged plants for speeding manufacture of guns, planes and explosives.

Of the money spent so far, the survey disclosed, the biggest slice—about $1,500,000,000—has gone to the ordnance department for guns, tanks, ammunition and other equipment.

The air corps has contracted to spend about an even $1,000,000,000, most of it for the 18,641 planes which have been ordered.

The bulk of the rest has gone to the quartermaster corps to build housing facilities and purchase uniforms and equipment for the forthcoming conscript army.

Report Pressure Upon Bulgaria

London Papers Claim Rome-Berlin Axis Seeks To Force Action

(International News Service)
LONDON, Oct. 21.—Stories of heavy Italian pressure to force Bulgaria into the Rome-Berlin axis camp were displayed prominently by London newspapers today.

It was emphasized that King Boris received Bernhard Rust and Julius Twardowski of the German foreign office, and that Bulgaria was reportedly crowded with Nazi "tourists".

The papers claimed that many buildings in Sofia and other Bulgarian cities are flying Nazi swastika emblems and that Germans in Bulgaria are making stronger demands that the nation line up with the axis.

It was hinted that Rust and Twardowski delivered a firmly worded request that Bulgaria cooperate with Rome and Berlin.

Dispatches from Istanbul said Turkey is calm but watchful and that Turkish troops were concentrated near the Bulgarian frontier.

Japanese Claim Key Bridges On Burma Road Hit

(International News Service)
TOKYO, Oct. 21.—Key bridges were destroyed and several columns of trucks were wrecked when Japanese bombers carried out their second attack on the Burma Road yesterday. It was officially announced today.

Rain And Snow Forecast Today

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—The coldest October 19-20 week-end in 60 years was recorded here today as weather forecasters predicted still more snow and rain for the Pittsburgh district and western Pennsylvania.

At Allegheny county airport the mercury plunged to 25 above yesterday, while at Kane, "icebox" of the state, a low of 15 above was set for Saturday. The forecast for today reads:

"Cloudy and continued cold, with light rain and snow."

Pennsylvania Central Airlines and Transcontinental & Western Airline were forced to cancel trips out of Pittsburgh Saturday night and early Sunday morning, it was reported.

Bucharest Has First Blackout

New Anti-Aircraft Batteries Installed As War Scare Reaches Rumania

(International News Service)
BUCHAREST, Oct. 21.—New anti-aircraft batteries were installed in Bucharest today after the Rumanian capital plunged into total darkness at midnight as the city's first total blackout was enforced.

A defense measure against possible air raids, the blackout will be clamped down nightly hereafter in Bucharest, once one of the gayest of Europe's capitals.

Anti-aircraft batteries also were mounted in the Ploesti oil fields, which were regarded as one of the chief targets of any aerial attack that might be launched against Rumania.

French Flood Damage Large

More Than 200 Killed Or Drowned, Damage Placed At $20,000,000

(International News Service)
VICHY, France, Oct. 21.—More than 200 persons were killed or drowned and an estimated $20,000,000 damage resulted from torrential rains which today virtually isolated the province of Roussillon from the rest of France.

Perpignan, capital of the southern province, is now half under water, the nearby port Vendres is entirely cut off from land. Railroads, highways and bridges have been washed out, and telegraph and telephone lines have been destroyed. Hundreds have been forced to flee their homes.

Food Scarce

The food situation in the stricken area is critical and today the French Red Cross took measures to send supplies by plane.

The military camp at Argeles, near Perpignan, where Spanish troop refugees are held, has been transferred to higher ground.

The complete death toll is not known as many of the coastal villages along the Mediterranean are completely isolated.

First reports of the catastrophe arrived from Perpignan where some telephone lines have been re-established.

Perpignan is a city of 72,207 population and the isolated Port Vendres numbers 2,724 residents.

Gasoline Rationed

During the early morning hours, scores of pedestrians collided with each other on the streets as they sought to reach their homes through the pitch darkness.

The first hours of the blackout also witnessed almost complete cessation of motor traffic, but this was as much a result of gasoline rationing as the blackout.

Decision to strengthen Bucharest's anti-aircraft defenses was announced shortly after the first contingents of German military technicians arrived.

Hint Britain May Take Initiative In Middle East

(International News Service)
LONDON, Oct. 21.—A strong hint that Britain is prepared to take the initiative in the middle east was thrown out by A. V. Alexander, first Lord of the Admiralty, today in a speech opening war weapons week.

"We shall have to carry the fight into the enemy's fields until we win," he said.

"Daily we are conveying our ships and troops and supplies to fields and theatres of war in which victory will be driven home."

Asserts Japan Must Increase Armed Forces

(International News Service)
TOKYO, Oct. 21.—Japan must increase and strengthen her army in order to meet the growing seriousness of the international situation, Emperor Hirohito declared today.

Speaking at a gigantic military review, in which 50,000 troops, 500 planes and 300 tanks participated, the emperor asserted the spread of world disturbance is adding to the importance of the "mission" of the Japanese empire.

He pointed out the "increasing necessity of strengthening and enhancing the efficiency of the army."

Mussolini May Have Been Goal Of Bombers

(International News Service)
ROME, Oct. 21.—A possibility that the object of the British Royal Air Force's attack on northern Italy during the night was an attempt to bomb Premier Mussolini was seen here today.

In one of the most widespread aerial attacks yet made on northern Italy by the R. A. F., British bombers struck at six cities.

Italian officials said the bombings "probably were connected with the presence of Premier Mussolini in northern Italy," but added that the British "planes" failed to reach and bomb the northeastern area.

Premier Mussolini left home Saturday by air for the eastern frontier to inspect Italian troops there.

He arrived at Forli, in northeastern Italy, on Saturday afternoon and was supposed to spend the night there, continuing his journey yesterday.

The authorities revealed the name of four places bombed by the British planes but refused to divulge the identity of the other two places which they said had also been bombed.

Those places admittedly visited by the British bombers when Verona, Pavia, Alessandria and Savona.

Verona is northwest of Forli and was not far from the route Mussolini would take in flying on to Venice or Fiume. However, the other identified cities are much farther west and could hardly have been aimed at as objectives in the northeastern part of the country.

ABOARD WILLKIE TRAIN, EN ROUTE TO MILWAUKEE, Oct. 21.—With another and more subtle challenge to President Roosevelt to debate the issues of the campaign spread on the record, Wendell Willkie headed today into Wisconsin for the second time in his campaign for the presidency.

In Different Form

Willkie first challenged the president to debate in his acceptance speech at Elwood, Indiana, and has several times repeated it. Today his challenge spread in different form with the president at Baltimore on Oct. 30.

Both Willkie and President Roosevelt were tentatively scheduled for the same date in the Maryland city. The Willkie forces hired the city's largest hall and then it was announced that the president would not speak in Baltimore on that date.

The situation afforded the Republican presidential candidate an opportunity to repeat his challenge but (Continued On Page Two)

Neither Chairman Dingley nor any other campaign leader this afternoon wanted to venture a prediction about the Tuesday report total.

Other dispatches received in Tokyo stated that Japanese airmen "seriously damaged" vital bridges spanning the Burma road's Yunnan gorge.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Stunning British bombing attacks that spread from Berlin to northern Italy and along the French coast, where bombs fell at the rate of 100 a minute, were announced officially today.

London Also Lashed

The latest R. A. F. assaults were carried out during the night while German raiders once more lashed London and the midlands, dropping large numbers of delayed action bombs on the outskirts of the British capital but otherwise failing to cause serious damage to the city.

Later this morning a new daylight alarm sounded in London just after a German raider, swooping down from the clouds, dropped several bombs on a London district. Anti-aircraft fire was heard in the city.

This was the capital's 241st alarm since the war began. An hour earlier anti-aircraft guns opened fire at another plane flying high above the clouds which dropped two bombs on another London district.

Airplane motors, gunfire and exploding bombs were heard in London's outskirts as the raid progressed. British fighters went up to engage the high-flying attackers.

Another Nazi raider flew over Liverpool this morning but anti-aircraft guns went into action and fighting planes chased it away. Other raiders were reported flying over three midland and two north-western English towns.

Golden Jubilee Event Observed

Local 270 International Typographical Union Celebrates 50th Anniversary

TRI-STATE SENDS DELEGATES HERE

Golden jubilees are usually pleasant affairs and the Golden Jubilee of Local 270, International Typographical Union, held Saturday night in The Castleton hotel was a jubilee to be remembered. It not only marked fifty years of organized service for the local union but it also marked the opening of the 51st Tri-State Conference of I. T. U. men.

The local which celebrated Saturday night was something different than the local which was organized back in 1890. Back in October of that year a group of young printers met in the corridor of the jail (of all places) and decided to band themselves together. In the group were W. P. Miller, Fred L. Rentz, B. F. Butler, Norris D. Fyle, John W. White, John P. Quinn and John A. Leathers.

Today the local is strongly organized, and an active unit of the international body.

One Of Originals

For the conference dinner Saturday night one of the organizers of the local was the toastmaster, Fred L. Rentz, president of The News. Another original, B. F. Butler was unable to be present, due to ill health. The dinner itself was one that the printers said was tops, chicken and a host of goodies to go with it.

The invocation for the dinner was pronounced by O. A. Rodgers who also introduced the toastmaster, Mr. Rentz. Mr. Rentz recounted the early days of the local.

PA NEW OBSERVES

The wise saying of "The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence" was aptly demonstrated Sunday afternoon by one cow on the Harlansburg road, who was stretching her neck beneath a heavily barbed wire fence to nibble at the grass on the other side of the fence, although the rest of the pasture seemed to be content with the pasture feeding within the fence boundaries.

***

One East Side woman was preparing for colder weather Saturday afternoon as she removed her porch plants and blooms to safer indoor quarters. Other families have just covered their plants with blankets or rugs, probably expecting warmer weather before they remove the plants indoors.

***

Forever green pine and fir trees can best be appreciated these days for their striking beauty, as they are remaining the famed green amidst the various other trees and shrubs who are shedding their leaves and finery in the approaching cold weather's breezes. This is especially true when viewing nearby hillside scenes, the green of the evergreens shows right through a mass of yellow and browns of other trees.

***

Apparently in an effort to speed completion of resurfacing of Croton avenue, workmen were engaged in relaying brick on the street near the East Washington street intersection yesterday.

***

Some idea of the amount of traffic that goes over the North street bridge could be gained on Saturday, when there was congestion most of the day on East Washington street at the bridge over the Nesheanock.

Report Pressure Upon Bulgaria

London Papers Claim Rome-Berlin Axis Seeks To Force Action

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Stories of heavy Italo-German pressure to force Bulgaria into the Rome-Berlin axis camp were displayed prominently by London newspapers today.

It was emphasized that King Boris received Bernhard Rust, German foreign minister, and that Bulgaria was reported crowded with Nazi "tourists."

The papers claimed that many buildings in Sofia and other Bulgarian cities are flying Nazi swastika emblems and that Germans in Bulgaria are making stronger demands that the nation line up with the axis. It was hinted that Rust and Twardowski delivered a firmly worded request that Bulgaria cooperate with Rome and Berlin.

Dispatches from Istanbul said Turkey is calm but watchful and that Turkish troops were concentrated near the Bulgarian frontier.

Army Has Large Supply Of Vital Material Ordered

Over Three And Half Billion Dollars Worth Reported As "On Order"

By GRIFFITH BANCROFT JR.
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The army now has $3,500,000,000 worth of vital material "on order" and is doing everything humanly possible to spur deliveries, a survey disclosed today.

Procurement officers, in an informal progress report, said that contracts for that huge sum have been let since inauguration of the current preparedness buying program last July. This leaves $2,000,000,000 available in army funds, they said. Most of this money is to go for long range defense spending primarily for construction of new or enlarged plants for speeding manufacture of guns, planes and explosives.

Of the money spent so far, the survey disclosed, the biggest slice—about $1,500,000,000—has gone to the ordnance department for guns, tanks, ammunition and other equipment.

The air corps has contracted to spend about an even $1,000,000,000, most of it for the 18,641 planes which have been ordered.

The bulk of the rest has gone to the quartermaster corps to build housing facilities and purchase uniforms and equipment for the forthcoming conscript army.

Bucharest Has First Blackout

New Anti-Aircraft Batteries Installed As War Scare Reaches Rumania

GASOLINE IS BEING RATIONED

(International News Service)

BUCHAREST, Oct. 21.—New anti-aircraft batteries were installed in Bucharest today after the Rumanian capital plunged into total darkness at midnight as the city's first total blackout was enforced.

A defense measure against possible air raids, the blackout will be clamped down nightly hereafter in Bucharest, once one of the gayest of Europe's capitals.

Anti-aircraft batteries also were mounted in the Ploesti oil fields, which were regarded as one of the chief targets of any aerial attack that might be launched against Rumania.

Gasoline Rationed

During the early morning hours, scores of pedestrians collided with each other on the streets as they sought to reach their homes through the pitch darkness.

The first hours of the blackout also witnessed almost complete cessation of motor traffic, but this was much a result of gasoline rationing as the blackout.

Decision to strengthen Bucharest's anti-aircraft defenses was announced shortly after the first contingents of German military technicians arrived.

French Flood Damage Large

More Than 200 Killed Or Drowned, Damage Placed At $20,000,000

FOOD SITUATION AT CRITICAL STAGE

(International News Service)

VICHY, France, Oct. 21.—More than 200 persons were killed or drowned and an estimated $20,000,000 damage resulted from torrential rains which today virtually isolated the province of Roussillon from the rest of France.

Perpignan, capital of the southern province, is now half under water, the nearby port Vendres is entirely cut off from land. Railroads, highways and bridges have been washed out, and telegraph and telephone lines have been destroyed. Hundreds have been forced to flee their homes.

Food Scarce

The food situation in the stricken area is critical and today the French Red Cross took measures to send supplies by plane.

The military camp at Arles, near Perpignan where Spanish troop refugees are held, has been transferred to higher ground.

The complete death toll is not known as many of the coastal villages along the Mediterranean are completely isolated.

First reports of the catastrophe arrived from Perpignan where some telephone lines have been re-established.

Perpignan is a city of 72,207 population and the isolated Port Vendres numbers 2,724 residents.

Hint Britain May Take Initiative In Middle East

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 21.—A strong hint that Britain is prepared to take the initiative in the middle east was thrown out by A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, today in a speech opening war weapons week.

"We shall have to carry the fight into the enemy's fields until we win," he said.

"Daily we are conveying our ships and troops and supplies to fields and theatres of war in which victory will be driven home."

Political Surprise Is Hint Of Berlin

Intense Diplomatic Activity Is Reported From Berlin Sources Today

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Special
Correspondent

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—Intense diplomatic activity was evident today as informed quarters in Berlin expressed belief the axis powers are laying the ground-work for a new "political surprise."

The next Italo-German move, it was stated, will be designed to show the world that the "new order" in Europe is "rapidly becoming a reality" despite British and American counter-efforts.

German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop was absent from Berlin, but it was not yet known whether current rumors that he will visit Moscow, possibly with Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, are based on fact.

At the same time, German circles contended that the Balkan nations now are coming ever closer to the axis powers.

Rain And Snow Forecast Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—The coldest October 19-20 week-end in 60 years was recorded here today as weather forecasters predicted still more snow and rain for the Pittsburgh district and western Pennsylvania.

At Allegheny county airport the mercury plunged to 25 above yesterday, while at Kane, "icebox" of the state, a low of 15 above was set for Saturday. The forecast for today read:

"Cloudy and continued cold, with light rain and snow."

Pennsylvania Central Airlines and Transcontinental & Western Airlines were forced to cancel trips out of Pittsburgh Saturday night and early Sunday morning, it was reported.

Asserts Japan Must Increase Armed Forces

(International News Service)

TOKYO, Oct. 21.—Japan must increase and strengthen her army in order to meet the growing seriousness of the international situation, Emperor Hirohito declared today.

Speaking at a gigantic military review, in which 50,000 troops, 500 planes and 300 tanks participated, the emperor asserted the spread of world disturbance is adding to the importance of the "mission" of the Japanese empire.

He pointed out the "increasing necessity of strengthening and enhancing the efficiency of the army."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The national draft lottery to determine which of the country's 17,000,000 conscription registrants will be called into the army first, will be held in Washington on Tuesday, October 29, it was officially announced today.

National Draft Director Clarence A. Dykstra said that the drawing—the first peacetime conscription lottery in history—will start at high noon on that day with President Roosevelt drawing the first number and continue without interruption until it is finished. It is expected that it will take between 15 and 20 hours to complete the lottery.

The lottery, it was added, will be staged in the government-owned departmental auditorium, a pretentious marble hall on Washington's famous Constitution avenue. The hall, not far from the White House, is in the shadow of the Washington monument.

American Embassy In London Suffers Bombing Damage

Bombs Drop Near Building—No Injuries To The Embassy Personnel

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The American embassy in London was slightly damaged during the recent German air raids on the British capital, it was disclosed today.

Bombs, which fell near the building and shattered nearby apartments, broke embassy windows and littered the roof with masonry and debris. There were no injuries to the personnel.

Many buildings and apartments for blocks around the embassy, which is located in Grosvenor Square in the heart of London, have been leveled by Nazi explosives. Two buildings and a flat close to the embassy have been smashed.

The Y. M. C. A. headquarters on Great Russell street, in the heart of the city, also has sustained damage from falling bombs, it was revealed.

Instead, Mr. Roosevelt may make his speech that night from the Academy Hall of Music in Brooklyn.

Arthur Mometer

When ideas lag for a little verse, when they seem fast asleep on their feet, the thing to do is to conjure up, an idea of something to eat. And this time of year when October wanes, it isn't a large job of work to close my eyes and see a sight, a well roasted Thanksgiving turkey. Now maybe we won't have turkey at all, it may be chicken or duck, or it may be a goose or a roast of beef, most any of it is luck. But a turkey brings visions of Thanksgiving Day, and it rhymes very well for us, so I'm thinking of turkey and plenty of grub, and the weather is forty three.

Several Killed In Freak Blast In Berlin

Plane's Bombs Wreck Homes

Berlin Says British Plane Explodes In Mid-Air And Drops On City

LONG RAID MADE ON CITY OF BERLIN

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Oct. 21.—Several Berlin residents were killed and injured in a freak series of blasts that occurred after an anti-aircraft shell scored a direct hit on a British raider during the night, it was disclosed today.

The raid was carried out by waves of British bombers which dropped incendiary bombs on various sections of the city in one of the longest and most persistent attacks Berlin has experienced.

Two British planes were shot down and one of them burst apart in mid-air. Its two sections fell in a southwestern residential district, where four explosive bombs wrecked some houses and caused the casualties.

An official announcement said that "most of the attacking planes were scattered by our effective defense before they reached the capital." But it added:

Drop Incendiary Bombs

"Several planes reached Berlin and dropped incendiary bombs on residential sectors, hitting exclusively non-military objectives.

"Since the enemy used only incendiary bombs and did not attack military or war-important objectives, it is believed the R.A.F. planes planned a mere terror action against the Berlin population.

"One plane was shot down over greater Berlin and another outside the city by anti-aircraft fire."

When the raid first began the British craft failed to penetrate Berlin's defense ring. But later, aided by dim moonlight and a slightly overcast sky, the raiders dropped flares to guide themselves over the city. Searchlight batteries stabbed the sky while anti-aircraft guns set up a heavy barrage.

On several occasions Berlin's shattering millions heard the hum of British planes crossing the heart of the capital and diving to lower altitudes in the face of the ground fire. It was the first British raid on Berlin in a week.

GOLDEN JUBILEE EVENT OBSERVED

ly days of the local, of the struggle to get started and of some of the incidents of the young organization. He paid tribute to the local, of its spirit of co-operation and fair play and welcomed the visiting printers and their wives.

T. J. Little of McKeesport, president of the Tri State Conference and a one time New Castle man responded for the conference. For the International Typographical Union, Glenn Pollock spoke. He reviewed the work of the early days of the union, its struggle for proper working conditions, standard wage schedules, and service to the disabled members of the organization. He congratulated the New Castle local upon its splendid record and its future in the hands of the representatives of the conference. The benediction was pronounced by O. A. Rodgers.

Entertainers Please

Emil Lelenko and his group of entertainers took it up from there. Emil presented some of his shenanigans assisted by Duke Foringer on the marimba and tiny Jean Krosen a dancer. Angelina Bruno accompanied Miss Foringer and Jean Bartsch accompanied little Miss Krosen. The entertainment was of the same quality as the dinner and the conference itself. Dancing concluded the evening.

Pep singing was led during the evening by Red Williams, and Mrs. Howard Hammond, was accompanied at the piano.

Sunday the business sessions of the conference were held in The Castleton, Butler, Pa., was selected as the city for the spring conference of 1941. No officers were elected at the local conference as this comes in the spring. Officers of the New Castle local include President Fred E. Boyd, Secretary-Treasurer Harvey E. Hickling, Sergeant-at-Arms Clyde E. Flanagan, and Trustees Clarence W. Brown, Howard L. Gresham and Bert Toth. C. Arthur Patterson was the general chairman of the conference arrangements.

The local delegates were Howard Hammond, Percy White and Harry Carlson.

Sunday morning the women guests of the conference were taken on a sight seeing trip. They visited the show rooms of the Shenango Pottery, Scottish Rite Cathedral and the plant of the New Castle News. At one in the afternoon a luncheon was held in the hotel.

The conference was a success and the crowd attending was even larger than had been anticipated. It was a Golden Jubilee to be remembered.

MORE DAYLIGHT RAIDS ON LONDON

the day a German raider swooped from the clouds and dropped several bombs on a London district. An hour earlier anti-aircraft guns fired at another plane which dropped two bombs on the city.

As the raid progressed British fighters went up to engage the attackers and gunfire and exploded bombs were heard in London's outskirts.

WILLKIE SPEAKS IN MIDDLE WEST

to put it in the form of a courtesy extended to the president rather than a direct challenge.

Second Invitation

It was the second invitation to explain the New Deal viewpoint which he had extended to the president in two days. Speaking in Minneapolis, Willkie asked his opponent to explain how he could "claim to be a liberal reform leader while having the Flynn machine and the Kelly-Nash machine trying to steal elections in three major cities."

He has consistently attacked Flynn, Flynn and the Kelly-Nash combination but it was the first time he had attempted to tie in the president so directly with the political leadership he refers to as "corrupt" and as "bunco artists."

Spending Day In Wisconsin

Willkie made a major speech in Madison, Wisconsin, on the return leg of his western trip but today he's spending the entire day in Wisconsin.

His first scheduled speech was a radio platform appearance at Watouski for Green Bay, Appleton, Oshkosh and Fond Du Lac with a night speech at Milwaukee.

Willkie enters the final two weeks of his campaign apparently as vigorous as he began it although others of his campaign trail show signs of wear after the month's long program of travel with speeches morning, afternoon and night.

Willkie Optimistic

Confident that his star is ascending day by day, the candidate reflects considerably more optimism than he did two weeks ago and as his optimism increases his willingness to take on a harder and harder program appears to increase with it.

Today to the itinerary slated to end at Louisville, Ky., on Oct. 28, Willkie added Charleston, W. Va., on Oct. 29, Baltimore, Md., Oct. 30, and Camden, Oct. 31.

It is certain that every day of the next two weeks will be devoted to speaking right up until election day and then Willkie will know whether his idea of seeing and being seen and heard by as many persons as possible has borne fruit.

STUNNING BOMB ATTACKS MADE UPON GERMANY

bombing attacks was indicated in a "terrible" ministry announcement which said:

"Last night R. A. F. bombers carried out extensive operations ranging from Berlin to northern Italy."

"Targets were attacked in both these areas as well as in other parts on the invasion front."

Nazi positions along the French coast took a terrific pounding, with attacks smashing the German "invincible" springboards and silencing the "Big Berthas" that earlier duelled heavily with British long-range guns.

There was a possibility that British warships supported the air attacks with naval gunfire, although official British sources said they had received no word of such action.

It was stated that British coastal guns could not have participated in the night attacks on the French coast owing to a dense night mist blanketing the channel.

As many as 15,000 bombs were reported dropped upon the Nazi coastal positions between 7 and 9:30 p. m. Sunday, after which other British squadrons sped inland to stab at Berlin and other Reich targets.

Following group of Girl Reserves aided in preparing 2,000 sheets of Christmas seals in the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society office Saturday.

Willkie has made several unfortunate blunders, including that of starting four years too soon.

New Castle Sportsmen Are Told Of Plans For New Hatchery At Lake

A new fish hatchery, larger than the one at Tionesta, should be under construction at Pymatuning lake within three weeks, two New Castle sportsmen were told Saturday by Commissioner of Fisheries Charles A. French.

Harry Wirsing and W. M. Roberts accompanied French and a party of state men to Pymatuning for a "fish test" and general inspection. Both Wirsing and Roberts are personal friends of the commissioner at Ellwood City.

With them were C. E. Buller, chief fish culturist; Dewey Sargison, superintendent of Bellefonte hatchery; Fred Ridel, superintendent of Pymatuning hatchery; Burt Odette, refuge keeper at Pymatuning dam; B. "Rosey" White, Lawrence county fish warden; John G. Mock of Pittsburgh and T. L. Camp, Greenville.

Wirsing said the commissioner was well pleased with the 24-hour fish tests made at the lower dam. The new hatchery will be erected at the Lanesville end of the reservoir, Wirsing was told.

FATAL CRASH ON TURNPIKE

all traffic crossing the river in that area had to use the one bridge. Traffic officers were kept busy most of the day aiding in keeping traffic straightened out.

East of New Castle, the week-end brought a real snowstorm, despite the fact that it was only the middle of October. In some of the mountain areas it is said that as much as six inches of snow fell on Saturday afternoon and night. Ashing crews were busy on some of the highways, part of the super-highway being asked.

The unexpected downfall of the first snow of the season on Saturday was greeted in many various ways by different persons, but perhaps the most humorous were the many children about town who anticipated a long sled run and waited patiently all afternoon for a heavy covering of snow than that which fell.

The accident occurred on the Donegal-Irwin section of the pike and was the first fatal mishap on the new road.

Long Range Guns Open Fire On Dover
(International News Service)

Several single shells came whizzing across the Straits of Dover and crashed in the town, damaging some buildings.

The sirens screamed a warning to the people to take cover. Just after the all-clear signal had been sounded and the people were emerging from the shelters, another shell crashed in the town. The sirens screamed again and the people rushed back into the shelters. No casualties were reported.

BARRELS OF SHOES FOR WAR REFUGEES

Millions of weary war refugees are in migration—and only a small number will ever see their homes again. They exist from day to day, and through relief agencies they get a little bread, a little soup, and a few may even get shoes. But there just aren't enough shoes for all of them. Supplies of shoes are pitifully small.

Whether war continues or peace is declared, famine and sickness will be the lot of these millions this winter, unless something is done by the humanitarian forces of the world to help.

In many Lawrence county homes there can be found a surplus of old shoes that would be thankfully received by the unfortunate men, women and children in war-stricken Europe. Next to food, shoes are most necessities.

We have joined the campaign to collect "barrels of shoes for war refugees" through the shoe stores of America. In front of our store we have placed a white barrel. Please deposit your surplus of old shoes and the barrel when full will be shipped immediately, through affiliated distribution centers, to war refugees in Europe.

Several Killed In Freak Blast In Berlin

Plane's Bombs Wreck Homes

Berlin Says British Plane Explodes In Mid-Air And Drops On City

LONG RAID MADE ON CITY OF BERLIN

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Oct. 21.—Several Berlin residents were killed and injured in a freak series of blasts that occurred after an anti-aircraft shell scored a direct hit on a British raider during the night, it was disclosed today.

The raid was carried out by waves of British bombers which dropped incendiary bombs on various sections of the city in one of the longest and most persistent attacks Berlin has experienced.

Two British planes were shot down and one of them burst apart in mid-air. Its two sections fell in a southwestern residential district, where four explosive bombs wrecked some houses and caused the casualties.

An official announcement said that "most of the attacking planes were scattered by our effective defense before they reached the capital." But it added:

Drop Incendiary Bombs
"Several planes reached Berlin and dropped incendiary bombs on residential sectors, hitting exclusively non-military objectives."

"Since the enemy used only incendiary bombs and did not attack military or war-important objectives, it is believed the R.A.F. planes planned a mere terror action against the Berlin population."

"One plane was shot down over greater Berlin and another outside the city by anti-aircraft fire."

When the raid first began the British craft failed to penetrate Berlin's defense ring. But later, aided by dim moonlight and a slightly overcast sky, the raiders dropped flares to guide themselves over the city. Searchlight batteries stabbed the sky while anti-aircraft guns set up a heavy barrage.

On several occasions Berlin's sheltering millions heard the hum of British planes crossing the heart of the capital and diving to lower altitudes in the face of the ground fire. It was the first British raid on Berlin in a week.

DEBORAH GIRLS

Deborah Girls held their regular semi-weekly meeting session at the home of Estelle Waldman on East Washington street yesterday afternoon when Nettie Rosenberg, general chairman of the regional convention, appointed her chairmen. They are: decoration, Florence Goldman; housing, Paula Levine; entertainment, Margie Fisher.

Debates on interesting topics ensued, and refreshments were served. The winner of the banner contest will be made known at their next session.

Another member of our Lawrence County Funeral Director's Association, has been called from us. This was a great shock to New Castle and the community, as his age, appearance and condition of his health, made him the last one we would think of being called from us. It is surely a great thing that we do not know what is in the future.

Judson R. Hodge will be missed in the community by the people whom he served, the Funeral Director's Association and the different organizations he belonged to, but most of all by his home and family. And to them, we know that all the above mentioned organizations will join with us in extending them our sincere sympathy, in this time of grief.

by days of the local, of the struggle to get started and of some of the incidents of the young organization. He paid tribute to the local, of its spirit of co-operation and fair play and welcomed the visiting printers and their wives.

T. J. Little of McKeesport, president of the Tri State Conference and a one time New Castle man responded for the conference. For the International Typographical Union, Glenn Feilers spoke. He reviewed the work of the early days of the union, its struggle for proper working conditions, standard wage schedules, and service to the disabled members of the organization. He congratulated the New Castle local upon its splendid record and was fulsome in his praise of the arrangements of the conference. The benediction was pronounced by O. A. Rodgers.

Entertainers Please

Emil Lelenko and his group of entertainers took it up from there. Emil presented some of his shenanigans assisted by June Forringer on the marimba and tiny Jean Kroen a dancer. Angeline Bruno accompanied Miss Forringer and Jean Bartsch accompanied little Miss Kroen. The entertainment was of the same quality as the dinner and the conference itself. Dancing concluded the evening.

Pep singing was led during the evening by Red Williams, and Mrs. Howard Hammond, was accompanied at the piano.

Sunday the business sessions of the conference were held in The Castleton. Butler, Pa. was selected as the city for the spring conference of 1941. No officers were elected at the local conference as this comes in the spring. Officers of the New Castle local include President Fred R. Pich, Vice President Joseph S. Boyd, Secretary-Treasurer Harvey E. Hickling, Sergeant-at-Arms Clyde J. Flanagan, and Trustees Clarence W. Brown, Howard L. Gresham and Bert Toth. C. Arthur Patterson was the general chairman of the conference arrangements.

The local delegates were Howard Hammond, Percy White and Harry Carlson.

Sunday morning the women guests of the conference were taken on a sight seeing trip. They visited the show rooms of the Shenango Pottery, Scottish Rite Cathedral and the plant of the New Castle News.

At one in the afternoon a luncheon was held in the hotel.

The conference was a success and the crowd attending was even larger than had been anticipated. It was a Golden Jubilee to be remembered.

MORE DAYLIGHT RAIDS ON LONDON

the day a German raider swooped from the clouds and dropped several bombs on a London district. An hour earlier anti-aircraft guns fired at another plane which dropped two bombs on the city.

As the raid progressed British fighters went up to engage the attackers and gunfire and exploded bombs were heard in London's outskirts.

WILLKIE SPEAKS IN MIDDLE WEST

to put it in the form of a courtesy extended to the president rather than a direct challenge.

Second Invitation

It was the second invitation to explain the New Deal viewpoint which he had extended to the president in two days. Speaking in Minneapolis Willkie asked his opponent to explain how he could "claim to be a liberal reform leader while having the Frank Hague machine, the Flynn machine and the Kelly-Nash machine trying to steal elections in three major cities."

He has consistently attacked Hague, Flynn and the Kelly-Nash combination but it was the first time he had attempted to tie in the president so directly with the political leadership he refers to as "corrupt" and as "buncoartists."

Spending Day In Wisconsin

Willkie made a major speech in Madison, Wisconsin, on the return leg of his western trip but today he's spending the entire day in Wisconsin.

His first scheduled speech was a rear platform appearance at Wausau with other rear platform speeches slated for Green Bay, Appleton, Oshkosh and Fond Du Lac with a night speech at Milwaukee.

Willkie enters the final two weeks of his campaign apparently as vigorous as he began it although others on his campaign train show signs of wear after the month's long program of travel with speeches morning, afternoon and night.

Willkie Optimistic

Confident that his star is ascending day by day, the candidate reflects considerably more optimism than he did two weeks ago and as his optimism increases his willingness to take on a harder and harder program appears to increase with it.

Today the itinerary slated to end at Louisville, Ky., on Oct. 28, Willkie added Charleston, W. Va., on Oct. 29, Baltimore, Md., Oct. 30, and Camden, Oct. 31.

It is certain that every day of the next two weeks will be devoted to speaking right up until election day and then Willkie will know whether his idea of seeing and being seen and heard by as many persons as possible has borne fruit.

STUNNING BOMB ATTACKS MADE UPON GERMANY

bombing attacks was indicated in a terse air ministry announcement which said:

"Last night R. A. F. bombers carried out extensive operations ranging from Berlin to northern Italy."

"Targets were attacked in both these areas as well as in other parts of Germany. Attacks also were made on the invasion ports."

Nazi positions along the French coast took a terrific pounding, aimed at smashing the German "invasion springboards" and silencing the "Big Berthas" that earlier duelled heavily with British long-range guns.

There was a possibility that British warships supported the air attacks with naval gunfire, although official British sources said they had received no word of such action. It was stated that British coastal guns could not have participated in the night attacks on the French coast owing to a dense night mist blanketing the channel.

As many as 15,000 bombs were reported dropped upon the Nazi coastal positions between 7 and 9:30 p. m. Sunday, after which other British squadrons sped inland to stab at Berlin and other Reich targets.

Miss Virginia Nielsen Bride Of Clyde Dixon In Ohio Church

Attired in a white mousseline marquisette gown, made Princess style with long train, full length sleeves fashioned with points, over the wrists and high neckline, decorated with lace insertions, and double 1 1/2 inch finger tip veil, caught with a half crescent of pearl orange blossoms, Miss Virginia Nielsen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Nielsen of Hazelcroft avenue, this city, was a beautiful bride and a Princess indeed, with her blonde hair and fair complexion, for Clyde Dixon, Youngstown, O., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dixon of Hazelcroft, O., was the groom.

The ceremony was celebrated on Saturday morning, October 19, in St. Dominick's church in Youngstown, O.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Dr. Nielsen, carried a bridal bouquet of white baby mums, tied with matching white satin ribbons and knotted with bits of fern and blossoms.

Rev. Fr. C. Andrieh, officiated in the presence of a large throng of guests, using the impressive double ring service.

As the wedding party entered and proceeded to the altar, the organist, who contributed a half hour program, played the Lohengrin wedding march. Echoes of appropriate music, were faintly heard throughout the service, and for the reception, Mendelssohn's wedding march was triumphantly sounded.

The church altar was beautifully decorated with an abundance of white mums and gladioli, against a background of green foliage, leafy ferns and graceful palms. Further enhancing this picture, lighted candles, were placed at either side of the altar, in branching candelabras.

As her maid to honor and only attendant, Miss Catherine Wagner of New Castle, was attractive in a yellow length gown of marquisette with full bouffant skirt over yellow slip, was edged in brown velvet ribbon, and dotted with bows of the same, giving a quaint effect. Her matching brown double veil, finger tip length, was held with a Juliet cap of gold sequins. She carried yellow and bronze mums.

Kenneth Donegan, of this city, served as best man.

After a congratulatory period, took place in the church vestibule, a wedding breakfast and reception for twenty-five guests, featured at the Scottwick Manor on Wick avenue. The nuptial motif was artistically used in the appointments throughout, with flowers decorating the bridal table, and the spacious reception room as well.

Later in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon departed on a few days eastern motor trip, and for traveling, the bride wore a chic soldier blue wool dress, with matching full length cape, and dubonnet accessories. Decorating the front, was a flower design of varl colored yarn. Her shoulder corsage was of pompons in autumn shades, giving a striking contrast.

Upon returning, the couple will be "at home" to friends at 450 West Judson avenue, Youngstown, O., in their newly furnished apartment, where he is employed with the Baxter Furnace company, as an engineer.

Miss Virginia Nielsen Bride Of Clyde Dixon In Ohio Church

Attired in a white mouseline marquisette gown, made Princess style with long train, full length sleeves fashioned with points over the wrists and high neckline, decorated with lace insertions, and double L'Armour finger up veil, caught with a half crescent of pearl orange blossoms, Miss Virginia Nielsen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Nielsen of Hazelcroft avenue, this city, was a beautiful bride and a Princess indeed, with her blonde hair and fair complexion, for Clyde Dixon, Youngstown, O., son of Mr. and Harvey Dixon of Cortland, O., the ceremony being celebrated on Saturday morning, October 19, in St. Dominick's church in Youngstown, O.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Dr. Nielsen, carried a bridal bouquet of white baby mums, tied with matching white satin ribbons and knotted with bits of fern and blossoms.

Rev. Fr. C. Andrine, officiated in the presence of a large throng of guests, using the impressive double ring service.

As the wedding party entered and proceeded to the altar, the organist, who contributed a half hour program, played the Lohengrin wedding march. Echoes of appropriate music were faintly heard throughout the service, and for the recessional, Mendelssohn's wedding march was triumphantly resounded.

The church altar was beautifully decorated with an abundance of white mums and gladioli, against a background of green foliage, ferns and graceful palms. Further enhanced this picture, lighted Cathedral candles, were placed at either side of the altar, in branching candelabrum.

As her maid to honor and only attendant, Miss Catherine Wagner of New Castle, was attractive in a yellow length gown of marquisette with full bouffant skirt over yellow slip, was edged in brown velvet ribbon, and dotted with bows of the same, giving a quaint effect. Her matching brown double veil, finger tip length, was held with a Juliet cap of gold sequins. She carried yellow and bronze mums.

Kenneth Donegan, of this city, served as best man.

After a congratulatory period, took place in the church vestibule, a wedding breakfast and reception for twenty-five guests, featured at the Scottwick Manor on Wick avenue. The nuptial motif was artistically used in the decorations throughout, with flowers adorning the bridal table, and the spacious reception room as well.

Later in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon departed on a few days eastern motor trip, and for traveling, the bride wore a chic soldier blue wool dress, with matching full length cape, and dubonnet accessories. Decorating the front, was a flower design of vari colored yarn. Her shoulder corsage was of pompons in autumn shades, giving a striking contrast.

Upon returning, the couple will be "at home" to friends at 450 West Judson avenue, Youngstown, O., in their newly furnished apartment, where he is employed with the Baxter Furnace company, as an engineer.

The couple have received a large array of shower and wedding gifts, for use in their home, further testifying to the high esteem, in which they are held. "Since the news of their engagement, a series of parties and showers have been given honoring the bride, in New Castle and Ohio."

A WAR WINTER

THE question of whether food should be sent to the conquered lands of Europe is one to tug at the heart strings and to impose a heavy strain upon calm judgment.

Americans are not accustomed to ignore appeals for help from distressed lands. Every need has inspired a ready and generous response from this country. During and after the World War it was the food and the clothing and medical supplies that prevented widespread misery, famine and disease in Poland, in Russia, in the Near East, in Belgium and even in Germany.

Now there is another war winter just ahead and it holds the same grim potentialities that invariably eventuate from the combination of winter and war. But, in so far as Americans are concerned, there are almost insuperable obstacles in the way of aid.

It must be admitted, to begin with, that without help from this country there will be appalling suffering in Europe this winter. Germany, is milking its conquered territory. France, as an example, has been compelled to deliver 52 per cent of its livestock and 50 per cent of its grain to Hitler, besides paying $8,000,000, daily for maintenance of the army of occupation. Denmark, Norway, Holland, Poland and Belgium have been stripped to the bone.

Naturally and logically, there arises the question of just what would happen to food and other supplies sent from the United States to these stricken lands. Envisioning a "rising tide of famine," Mr. Hoover, whose humanitarian impulses are always dominant, appeals for aid, a course which is opposed by many leading Americans on the theory that the food and supplies sent would be seized by the Nazis and used by them.

This is undoubtedly what would happen, although this circumstance does not make it easier to decide that no helping hand shall be raised in behalf of the millions who have been reduced to slavery and starvation by the Nazi scourge.

FOUR-CHILD FAMILIES

For the last couple of decades an American family has been judged more by the number of cars in the garage than by the number of children in the house. And the car ratio has been increasing faster than the baby ratio, which is just the opposite of what should happen.

Now the time has come, says Dr. J. E. Janney of Cleveland college, when this country "must make a four-child family as fashionable as a four-car garage." Otherwise we can't survive as a great nation.

Marriages, he finds, have very little to do with economics. The percentage of married population has been rising for 50 years. But the married people don't have so many children. The percentage of population increase in the last ten years has been the lowest on record. This results partly from lessened immigration, because immigrants usually have larger families than natives; but the native birth rate itself has been falling.

It is getting to be an old story, but it needs harping on. That is, if we want our nation to continue growing in size and strength and playing a notable part in the world. If we prefer to join decadent nations that surrender to dictators, that's another matter.

THE THIRD TERM ISSUE

If the two-term rule is abandoned in November, then it will simply cease to exist as a democratic force in the United States. Once it is conceded that an emergency justifies a third term, it must be conceded that an emergency justifies an indefinite number of terms, and for a president who seeks to perpetuate himself in office, there will always be crises ripe for picking. Whether Mr. Roosevelt wishes to be a dictator or not, and The Tribune accuses him of no such un-American designs, a permanent presidency must in the end mean a vast and unwholesome concentration of powers in the executive. It must mean a progressive strengthening of the machinery of self-perpetuation; a progressive diminution of the independence of the legislative and judicial branches of government; a progressive destruction of the checks and balances which are indispensable to the maintenance of our American form of government.

The third-term issue is not Mr. Roosevelt in 1940; it is the far more impersonal issue of whether our democratic system as we know it today shall exist from 1940 on. For as surely as we depart from a tradition to which that system has been moored since the first president left office, we shall be heading toward a permanent executive.—Minneapolis Times-Tribune.

SPORTSMANSHIP

The word "sportsman" as originally used meant principally men active in such sports as hunting and fishing. A good sportsman of former centuries was one who played fair with game and fish and with the public, who hunted and fished only in proper seasons, and who followed the rules that made game and fish plentiful.

Today hunting and fishing are only two of many pursued with intense eagerness. They differ from most athletic sports in that hunting and fishing affect the supply of creatures essential to human welfare.

The sportsman who passes a football or swats a golf ball is not affecting in any way the vital interests of the community. If he spends excessive time on these sports, he does not deplete the supply of footballs or golf balls.

The sportsman who is a hunter or fisherman does affect vital national interests if he carries his sport to excess. If he shoots and fishes out of season, if he trespasses on forbidden territory, if he takes more than the law allows, he is affecting the food supply of the nation, and he is also getting more than his fair share of sport.

Sportsmanship puts people on their honor, and impels them to obey the rules on fishing and hunting made for the public good, whether a game warden is looking or not. A man trained to do that has learned something valuable. If he carries that idea into his work and business, he has traveled far on the road to success.

It is generally true that a campaign argument uttered in an inaudible voice is not worth listening to.

The Parent Problem

HOME SAFETY DRILLS ADVOCATED

The insurance companies report that every year several thousand children are killed in street and highway accidents in the United States. Many more are injured.

Most of these children might have been saved to grow up to be happy and useful in the world, might be rolling right now among their playmates, if only they had learned in their early years the meaning of that one short word NO.

We must not condemn the sorrowing fathers and mothers whose children have been maimed or had their little lives snuffed out in the streets. Practically all these parents tried hard to keep their children safe. Some of them were themselves almost to distraction trying to train their children to keep out of the street and to cross it cautiously. Some of the children, moreover, who were killed had been well-trained in safety, yet were victims of the carelessness and cruelty of other people.

Nevertheless, most of the children who are killed or crippled in the street had never learned the alphabet of inhibition. Either the parents were not able to teach these children to mind, by means of sensible discipline, or supposed they should not restrain their children by means of physical pain. Many parents, indeed, whose children have been run down in the street, had supposed that in order to be modern they should be able to keep these children from the street solely by reasoning with them and persuading them. Well, they have been so advised by most child experts, alas. Who, therefore, probably slew these children?

As I see it, the safest, sanest, simplest way to train the child not to run into the street is to begin with the baby as soon as he begins to walk. Go with the toddler to the curb. Have him take along a cart, wagon or other plaything. Be right by his side. If no truck or car is coming, let him step into the street. Then the moment he does, punish him right then and there. Hope that he will turn to enjoy his playthings.

Being always close to him, let him choose whether to step again into the street or not. If no car is coming, don't intercept him, don't pull him back, don't shout at him. Let him step down. Then if he is not being careful—punish him. By and by stepping off the curb will itself become associated with being punished and the child will choose automatically to keep himself from the street, permanently, whether you are there or a thousand miles away. But be very sure that you or a fit substitute is on hand over enough days to establish inevitable punishment—association with stepping into the street. Followed literally, this works and saves lives. Aren't our little children worth keeping whole and alive?

Solving Parent Problems
Q. When is the best time to prevent the habit of abusive language in the child?

A. When the child is very young. The first time your tot calls you or any one else in your presence an ugly name, regardless of the name, tell him just once he must never do so again. Then, without further warning, punish him if he does it again. Nip this nuisance in the bud. It is very serious.

Q. What of the young child who swears or utters other naughty words as mere exclamations, but not at any one?

A. While not very serious, it is unconventional. Quietly inform the child that such words are not used in your family. Almost surely these words will disappear. If they persist after your long patient efforts at persuasion, assign an effective penalty and enforce it without fail.

Q. What do you think of the parent who will peek into the daughter's diary, read the son's or daughter's letters, or go through the pockets even of a tot?

A. I think they have an unfortunate attitude toward the child and an unwholesome relationship with him. Such transgressions by a parent are to be severely condemned.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NOW KEEP THEM

Every American is going to take in his belt a bit to pay for the four-billion dollar, 330-ship increase in our Navy. And now is time for national resolve to stamp upon the order for each ship; "This Time—Let's Build a Permanent Fleet!"

Back in 1916 seeing war clouds spread as now, the U. S. launched a tremendous naval building program. The war ended while that program was in full swing. In the rebound of idealism, the dream of peace through disarmament, that followed that war, America scrapped real battleships to reduce her naval strength to an agreed equality with Britain and a 5 to 3 superiority over Japan.

The other nations scrapped blueprints. The British are wishing to-day that America had not destroyed those ships! So are we—now that we must spend billions of new ones. We aided only Japan who continued to build as she pleased anyhow, and only aggressor nations are happy today over our noble gesture toward disarmament of two decades ago.

In the rush of post-war idealism, to come, in the yearning of a war sick world to do away with the machinery of war, let us by all means lend our moral strength to the cause of world peace—but let us also bear realistically in mind the cynical facts of history. When we get this Navy built, let's keep it for our eternal security.

Come what may, let's resolve never to give up the ships.

Roosevelt is not only a smooth politician, but he has some of the crookedest politicians in this country behind him. In the old days we thought we had crooked politicians. Wonder what they would say if they were here now!

HE FOUND OUT

"I think that young Smith is keeping company with our Betty," a North Hill woman said to her husband. "I wish you'd find out his intentions."

"Young man," said the husband and father to the young man, "have you been making advances to my daughter?"

"Er—I wasn't going to mention it," said the youth. "But, seeing that you brought the matter up, I have advanced her a total of $25 and I wish you'd pay it back."

The husband really suffers only while he is getting used to being bossed and still has spirit enough to resent it.

Few of us know where we are or where we are going.

Gravy, coffee and salads are beyond the knowledge and skill of four out of five cooks.

Everything that is worth doing is important.

I know a man who is so deeply in love with his wife that he insured her for $50,000.

What do you want in the future, a real job or a handout. The money will not last for handouts very long at the way things are going now. Willie will at least try to get confidence and real jobs back.

We're hoping that the coming generation can pull us through.

"Did you ever sell brushes?" asked the girl of her caller.

"Why, no," said the surprised youth.

"Then you'd better find one quick and start selling," she said. "That boy friend of mine who is at the front door is very jealous and abrupt, too."

A local woman has become so aristocratic she refuses to gossip about a person unless the person talked about is important.

A local man was explaining how his boy happens to have two cars. "He can't get all his accessories on one," he explained.

A woman was telling a friend how mean a man is. "He's so mean he wouldn't give a fellow a bite if he owned the Sandwich Islands," she said.

They were driving in the country and suddenly he noticed that there were tears in her lovely eyes.

His heart melted and he took her in his arms tenderly.

"Let me kiss those tears away," he said, and she melted into his strong embrace.

Still the tears flowed.

"Can nothing stop them?" he asked.

"Not out here in the country," she said. "It's hay fever, but the treatment is wonderful."

Modern girls don't care if a man's head is empty, just so his gasoline tank is full.

A local woman was asked "What is your husband's average income?" "About 3 a. m.," was the answer.

WASTED STUDY

That report about weight differences in various places reminds us of the research of a Yale university professor. He has discovered that the electric eye power of females 17 to 19 years is higher than that of girls of 10 to 12 or women of 40 to 65.

If that is an example of research we think someone is wasting time and money, for just about any man on the street could reach the same conclusion without a bit of trouble.

There are some who not only bite the hand that feeds them, but eat the other hand for dessert.

A woman in a local store bought a pair of stockings and had them charged. "Now," she said to the clerk, "I'm up to my knees in debt."

A girl with a pretty knee just grins and bares it.

HOPEFUL

He went to the movies when he got to the city and greatly enjoyed the treat which was unusual for him.

One scene particularly interested him. A group of girls was shown starting to undress and just then a train came along and shut off the view. When the train passed, the girls were shown in the water.

The man stayed through the whole day and came back the next and the next. Finally an usher got curious.

"Why do I come so often?" asked the patron. "I have an idea that one of these times that train is going to be late."

A henpecked man recently called on a neighbor and was told to make himself at home. He went to the attic and stayed there.

This caused the learned ones to enter into a profound discussion on the cause of this.

"No doubt the owner of this place has found that the heat rising from the stove strikes the roof much quicker and thus promotes the circulation of warm air in the cabin," said the first professor after deep thought.

"I don't think that's the reason," said the second. "I believe it has been raised to window level so cool and pure air could be allowed to enter at night and be warmed quickly."

The third professor was a bit more practical. "I think it was raised so a supply of wood could be put under it," he said.

The cabin's owner, a grizzled guide, appeared at this point and was called on to settle the dispute.

"When I brought that stove here I found we didn't have enough stovepipe to reach the roof, so we had to put it up this way so what pipe we had would reach through the roof," he explained.

A bachelor said "I don't believe in divorce so I'm not bothering about getting married."

Heard in a restaurant: "Waiter, take this coffee back. I'm no coward. I refuse to attack anything so weak."

A good place to stop in any city is at a railroad crossing.

In China they have a novel way of dealing with a man in debt. The debtor takes the door off his house. In this country they take the house.

A local business man called down a clerk for arguing with a customer and told the clerk the customer is always right. The clerk replied, "But he insisted on telling me you were the biggest jackass in town."

After a fellow has kissed a girl for the first time he wonders why he was so long coming to it.

Readers' Questions Answered
Question: When a young girl is staying at a hotel and has an escort for the evening should she allow him to accompany her as far as the door of her room or is it better for him to leave her at the elevator? I want to do the correct thing when I am away from home, staying at a hotel yet I do not wish to offend my friends. Will you give me some advice on this matter through your column?—Eva.

Answer: Say "good night" to your young man downstairs in the lobby allowing him to go no farther than the elevator entrance. People seeing you in a hotel elevator late at night accompanied by a man might misconstrue your purpose. And no girl can afford to invite such a scandal! Hence it is always safer and in better taste to go alone to your room. You will not offend the young man. He will understand perfectly and admire your display of good sense.

Question: Occasionally I find it necessary to take male business acquaintances to lunch—a purely business matter. I find it embarrassing to have the check given to me. Often the men refuse to let me pay it. How can I handle this situation without such embarrassment?—Sally.

Answer: In this era of equality of the sexes, it is often necessary for business women in executive positions to dine with business associates of the opposite sex. To prevent such embarrassment as you describe, you should, if possible, take your guest to a club of which you are a member or to a hotel where you may either sign the check or pay for the lunch in advance.

We were much interested in the story of the three college professors who went to the mountains over the week-end. When they arrived at their rented cabin they noted at once that the stove was set on posts about 3 feet above the floor.

Would War Bring Strict Censorship?
Newspapermen Recall World War Days
Lines May Be Drawn Tighter This Time

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—Being too old for military conscription, for draft is no personal worry to me.

Paraphrasing Dictator Lopez of Paraguay, down in South America, fought a war against Brazil, Argentina and Uruguay, about 75 years ago, during which the minimum maximum conscription ages, respectively, were 12 and 10. I'd be caught myself on that basis. However, I don't anticipate that Uncle Sam's range will be quite that elastic, even if we get physically into the current world conflict.

Consequently, as I say, while I may not overly like conscription in principle, the issue's only of academic interest, so far as I'm concerned.

But, as a newspaperman, I'm very sensitive to the idea of a censorship. And if we become actively involved in the present ruckus, I'm suspicious that we'll have something of that sort visited onto us right here in the United States.

Prior to Uncle Sam's participation in the last conflagration, I was an American correspondent variously in England, Germany and France. I didn't enjoy their censorship, a bit. I not only couldn't get a lot of news that I wanted, but if I did get it, I couldn't use it except to the tune of some functionary I didn't approve of at all.

In World War I

At the time we finally entered that war I was in the news business in the Argentine republic. Offering my services to our local embassy, I was assigned to handle our governmental publicity in Buenos Aires and vicinity. Naturally, my job was to disseminate pro-Yankee stuff. Local authorities had no objection and I kept it up and after the Armistice. Hence, no local censorship hurt my feelings throughout that particular era. And since I was so far away, I didn't know how much we were being censored here at home.

Now that we're threatened with being dragged into today's war, I've questioned many of the newspaper chaps who were in Washington then and were up against it.

I find that our system was somewhat less rigorous than the Old World's, and I kept it up and after the Armistice. Hence, no local censorship hurt my feelings throughout that particular era. And since I was so far away, I didn't know how much we were being censored here at home.

It appears that we kept everything coked up as tightly as possible, but that a newspaperman who, despite official secrecy, actually dug up a bit of genuine information, wasn't outright slammed in jail for printing it. There was a remote possibility, indeed, that he might be charged with and tried for treason, but a military court couldn't dispose of him summarily.

Public Information

Most folk probably will recall the Committee on Public Information with George Creel at the head of it. It was the outfit I worked for in World War I.

The committee gave out oodles of official "releases." Publishing them, uncommented on, was perfectly legitimate. In fact, the committee was anxious to have them widely publicized.

But if a Washington correspondent asked at the war department, say for an answer to some question that had occurred to him, the standard rejoinder was, "We'd be pleased to tell you, but you'll have to put your query up to the Committee on Public Information."

From all accounts, the committee didn't know much of anything about anything. The correspondents said that it both didn't and didn't intend to; it's "releases" were the sole and last word on every subject. There was its attitude.

Well, there's a difference between a censorship that simply won't tell and a censorship that may put you in front of a firing squad, do tell, what I'm curious to ascertain is: Supposing we do have a new censorship?

Mayn't it be the European or Asiatic kind this next time?

I put these queries, not as a selective service eligible, but as a newspaperman, I can stand other people's conscription, but not interference with my own journalistic scribbles.

NEW YORK—Comm. Wesley C. Stevens, USN, returns from four months in England and says:

"They can bomb London for months and years to come but there will always be a London."

ALBANY, N. Y. Inaugurated as state commissioner of education, Dr. Ernest E. Cole, asserts:

"No one believes more firmly in the doctrine of separation of church and state than I. Yet I feel that the time has come when some war must be found to install into all our children the spiritual faith and idealism of the fathers and a healthy reverence for religion."

LONDON: Queen Elizabeth inspects the bomb-blasted homes of the working class and remarks:

"What a terrible business it is."

There's a light in vander room. Where a zinnia, still in bloom. Seems to linger over-late. Setting little matters straight. Like the mother, whom we found Very often pattering round.

Now the wind is icy chill And the garden very still. Every singing bird has fled. Snow is gathering overhead. Safe asleep will all remain Until April comes again.

Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity.—Psa. 133:1.

HELEN SAAD AND GEORGE JOSEPH WED

Miss Helen Saad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Saad, of 402 Waldo street, and George Joseph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moowid Joseph, of 1115 South Mercer street, were united in marriage at a beautiful ceremony Sunday morning, October 20.

Rev. Elias Nader officiated at the ceremony in St. John's Maronite church, Howard way, at 10:00. The church was prettily arranged with gladioli and ferns and an altar also affixed with roses and ferns.

The bride wore a white brocaded damask gown made with a long train and matching tulle veil, caught with a crown of seed pearls. She wore a gold cross, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a bouquet of Madonna lilies.

Miss Anna George, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a quaint poudre blue taffeta gown with accompaniments and a colonial bouquet of tallman roses. Bridesmaids were Marcelle Gabriel, of Pittsburgh, Sarah Saad, sister of the bride, Mary Joseph, Ann Jimm, Anna Joseph and Emily Joseph, the latter a sister of the bridegroom. Each wore similar hoop-skirted gowns of pink taffeta with poudre blue accompaniments. Little Theresa George, was the flower girl.

Miss Julia Johns played appropriate nuptial selections preceding and during the ceremony.

John Sylman, of Rochester, served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were John Bashero, Joseph Gabriel, John Joseph, Richard Joseph, brother of the bridegroom, and John Gabriel.

Following a reception in the rear of the church, the couple were honored at a noon wedding dinner in a downtown banquet hall, at which Mr. and Mrs. Moowid Joseph were hosts. Guests, numbering 500, were served. Centering the bridal table was a large tiered cake, topped with a miniature wedding party. During the evening hours, a reception-dance took place in their honor, in St. John's hall. Anthony Clotie led the wedding march. Refreshments were served.

The couple departed later for a motor trip through California, to be gone six weeks. For traveling, the bride selected an autumn green wool suit, squirrel trimmed, with Cuban brown accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of gardenias.

Upon returning they will reside in their newly furnished apartment at 1715 East Long avenue. The bridegroom is a graduate of the local high school with the class of January '38 and is assistant manager at Joseph's Market, East Long avenue.

Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from Alliquipp, Rochester, Pittsburgh, Glendon, Baden, Wilmerling, Washington, McKeesport, East Chicago, California and Youngstown, O.

HELEN SAAD AND GEORGE JOSEPH WED

Miss Helen Saad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Saad, of 402 Waldo street, and George Joseph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moowid Joseph, of 1115 South Mercer street, were united in marriage at a beautiful ceremony Sunday morning, October 20.

Rev. Elias Nader officiated at the ceremony in St. John's Maronite church, Howard way, at 10:00. The church was prettily arranged with gladioli and ferns and an altar also affixed with roses and ferns.

The bride wore a white brocaded damask gown made with a long train and matching tulle veil, caught with a crown of seed pearls. She wore a gold cross, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a bouquet of Madonna lilies.

Miss Anna George, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a quaint poudre blue taffeta gown with accompaniments and a colonial bouquet of talliesman roses. Bridesmaids were Marcella Gabriel, of Pittsburgh, Sarah Saad, sister of the bride, Mary Joseph, Ann Jimm, Anna Joseph and Emily Joseph, the latter a sister of the bridegroom. Each wore similar hoop-skirted gowns of pink taffeta with poudre blue accompaniments. Little Theresa George, was the flower guide.

Miss Julia Johns played appropriate nuptial selections preceding and during the ceremony.

John Sylman, of Rochester, served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were John Bashero, Joseph Gabriel, John Joseph, Richard Joseph, brother of the bridegroom, and John Gabriel.

Following a reception in the rear of the church, the couple were honored at a noon wedding dinner in a downtown banquet hall, at which Mr. and Mrs. Moowid Joseph were hosts. Guests, numbering 500, were served. Centering the bridal table was a large tiered cake, topped with a miniature wedding party. During the evening hours, a reception-dance took place in their honor, in St. John's hall. Anthony Coffie led the wedding march. Refreshments were served.

The couple departed later for a motor trip through California, to be gone six weeks. For traveling, the bride selected an autumn green wool suit, squirrel trimmed, with Cuban brown accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of gardenias. Upon returning they will reside in their newly furnished apartment at 17½ East Long avenue. The bridegroom is a graduate of the local high school with the class of January '38 and is assistant manager at Joseph's Market, East Long avenue. Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from Alliquippa, Rochester, Pittsburgh, Clairton, Baden, Wilmerling, Washington, McKeesport, East Chicago, California and Youngstown, O.

Mrs. Omar Pink had charge of devotions after which a prayer was offered by Mrs. George Patterson. Roll call was answered by "Why I Vote." Mrs. Patterson gave an interesting talk on "Legislation." A report of the convention held in Wilkinsburg was given by Mrs. Pink.

Following the business meeting plans were made for the next meeting in the home of Mrs. Frank Washington. The hostess was assisted in serving a delicious lunch by Mrs. Everett Kennedy and Ruth Young.

Names Of 2600 Fifth Column Suspects Given

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—A demand that the diplomatic and consular staffs of Germany, Italy and the French Vichy government be ousted from the United States today accompanied disclosure that the Dies committee has turned over to the justice department the names of 2600 persons suspected of Fifth Column activities.

Sen. Ernest W. Gibson, youthful Republican from Vermont, participating in a radio debate last night, declared that "we should send back to Europe the hirelings of the dictators who now, behind the cloak of diplomatic immunity, are conspiring for our downfall."

The list of names given the justice department by the Dies committee has been carefully checked it was disclosed, and those employed in defense industry plants have been reported to their employers for dismissal or closer surveillance.

This development followed denial by Federal Bureau of Investigation officials of charges by Rep. Martin Dies (D) Tex. chairman of the Dies committee, that the G-Men have failed to act upon information he supplied them showing German consuls in this country were engaged in subversive activities.

The F. B. I. officials asserted that the only information turned over to them by Dies so far is the list of 2600 names suspected of pro-German activity in connection with their membership in the German-American Bund.

Dies recently declared that both the state and justice departments have failed to act on information furnished them by his committee showing anti-American activity by foreign diplomats in this country.

that the "inspection trips" which he has taken at Government expense were, in effect, political trips, on which local supporting politicians crowded his train and capitalized his visits to promote his and their candidacies. Fourth, there is the charge that he regards himself as the indispensable man and on that theory seeks to break the tradition established by Washington and affirmed by Jefferson, Madison and Jackson.

These have been the principal charges made by Mr. Willkie and a good many others. They do not seem to those who made them—not to a good many others—"deliberate falsifications." On the contrary, they seem extremely moderate statements of undeniable facts, to support which there is abundant evidence. They are the chief allegations against Mr. Roosevelt in this campaign, and any one of them should be enough to prevent his election. They justify his defeat, and it is a little difficult, in the light of the known facts, to see how he can deny them convincingly.

HOWEVER, there is no question that he will make extremely plausible high-powered and brightly polished addresses. He always does. He has at his command a group of very clever and highly skilled phrase makers and speech writers who can be depended upon to provide him with a finished literary product. It will not be Mr. Roosevelt's own, but it nevertheless will be good. One of these speeches is to be made in Baltimore on October 30. When told that Mr. Willkie would be speaking in Baltimore the same night, Mr. Roosevelt said to the press-conference reporters, "Good."

THAT prompts the suggestion that Mr. Willkie might renew his invitation to the President jointly to debate the issues with him. It will be recalled that the invitation was extended last August and the President's reply, made through Mr. Lickes, was that he was far too busy with the Battle of Britain to think about renewing political speeches in this campaign. But now he is not only thinking about it but is preparing to make five of them. And one is to be in Baltimore the same night Mr. Willkie speaks. What could be simpler? The place and the date suit the convenience of both men. The Fifth Regiment Armory, where Woodrow Wilson was nominated in 1912, is available. The setup would be ideal. Mr. Roosevelt would have the opportunity of calling Mr. Willkie a liar—or a "deliberate falsifier"—to his face. And Mr. Willkie would have the chance to reply. The whole American people would listen in. Mr. Roosevelt ought not to let any horse-and-buggy stuff about the dignity of his office deprive him of this great opportunity to measure the two men seeking the Presidency one against the other.

D. H. I. A. REPORT

Wayne Walker and Frank Wright, testers for the Lawrence County Dairy Herd Improvement Association report the new testing year for the association has begun. Thirty-seven herds with a total of 705 cows are now in the association. For the month of September 1940, 76 cows produced over 40 pounds of butterfat and 53 cows exceeded 1000 pounds of milk for the 30-day testing period. The average cow in the association produced 527.2 pounds of milk and 23.6 pounds butterfat for the month with an average test of 4.4%.

The ten high cows in butterfat production for the month averaged 1,145 pounds milk and 58.2 pounds butterfat. A six-year old Holstein owned by John Benson, R. D. No. 7, Mahoningtown, led the association in butterfat production with a record of 1,734 pounds milk and 64.2 pounds butterfat for the month. Second high was a 14-year old Jersey owned by Wm. W. McCombs, Mahoningtown, R. D. No. 7, whose production was 1,185 pounds milk and 62.8 pounds butterfat. A five-year old Jersey owned by H. L. McCurley came third in the list with a production of 61.5 pounds butterfat, and fourth place in the group was a Jersey owned by R. N. Moore, Volant, Pa., with a record of 59.1 pounds butterfat and fifth in the list was a Jersey owned by Hyllmede Farm, Beaver, with a production of 57.6 pounds butterfat. The five other cows that were listed in the ten high cows in butterfat production were owned by the following members: J. C. Shoemaker, Enon Valley; Harold Green, R. No. 3, New Castle; J. B. Elder, Volant; K. R. Brenner, Rochester; and W. R. Fox, Enon Valley.

The six cow herd of J. B. Elder led the association in both milk and butterfat production for the month by producing 1,107.7 pounds milk and 39.40 pounds butterfat. Second high herd in milk production was owned by John Benson, whose 23 cows averaged 826.6 pounds milk, third high herd was owned by K. R. Brenner with sixteen cows and an average production of 794.1 pounds milk. With 48 cows the Everglad Dairy, Pulaski was fourth in the association, and had an average of 711.2 pounds milk.

The 12-cow herd of G. L. Lockhart and Son, New Castle, R. No. 5, was fifth with a production of 669.5 pounds milk.

The 18-cow Jersey herd owned by Lauren Thompson, New Wilmington was second in the Association in butterfat production with an average of 33.15 pounds. Third place went to the 17-cow herd of J. C. Shoemaker, with an average production of 31.52 pounds butterfat per cow; and fourth place went to K. R. Brenner's herd whose average was 31.41 pounds per cow, and Wm. W. McCombs was the owner of the herd which had fifth place with a production of 30.36 pounds butterfat.

535 CLUB MEMBERS SELL 1,087 PIGS IN ROUND-UPS

Members of 4-H pig feeding clubs in 15 counties recently concluded their efforts in the successful sale of 1,087 hogs for $15,392.76. There were 535 club members represented in the selling and the total weight of the animals sold was 198,030 pounds.

Seven sales were conducted and 444 club members in 13 counties took part in these sales. The counties were Armstrong, Butler, Chester, Clinton, Cumberland, Dauphin, Fayette, Franklin, Lancaster, Lawrence, Lebanon, Lycoming, and Mercer.

The pigs were graded within weight classifications and sold on grade. There were 886 hogs weighing 161,720 pounds. They brought a total of $12,542.14. The average weight was 184.6 pounds per pig. The average price was $7.82 per hundred pounds, and the average value was $14.44 per pig. The best average prices were received for the class weighing from 191 to 220 pounds.

Lawrence County Club members sold their pigs through the District sale held at the Pittsburgh Stock Yards. The best pigs topped the market price on the days sold by 25 cents a hundred weight.

WATCH THE HUMIDITY IN THE EGG CELLAR

Egg quality usually drops in the fall soon after the furnace fires are started. The reason for this is that the fires dry out the cellars.

A temperature and humidity reading was taken in early September in a house cellar where a furnace fire was burning. Readings also were taken outdoors. The temperature of the cellar was 74 degrees, while outside the temperature was 67. In the cellar the relative humidity was only 46 per cent; outside the relative humidity was 80 per cent.

For best egg quality the temperature should be kept under 65 degrees with the relative humidity at about 75 per cent.

LONGER USE COMES WITH STORING OF VEGETABLES

In many sections of Pennsylvania tomatoes, eggplants, peppers, pumpkins, squash, and sweet potatoes were saved from the first frosts by protected locations or by the protection of foliage covering.

Tomatoes, eggplants, and peppers can be kept for several weeks to a month after removal from the garden or field if simple rules are followed.

The fruits should be full sized and mature even if the tomatoes are green. Careful handling will prevent bruising. They are placed in a single layer on shelves or on the cellar floor where it is moist enough to keep them from wilting and where it is fairly cool. Ripening of the tomatoes will be hastened by putting them in a warmer place of about 65 degrees Fahrenheit.

Sweet potatoes should be dug before frost kills the vines or immediately afterward. Careful handling is necessary to avoid bruising of the tender, moist skin. Drying them in the air or where the wind strikes them will harden the skin. They are placed in a warm, dry place (preferably with artificial heat) for several weeks to drive off excess moisture. The sweet potatoes then are stored in a fairly warm (50 degrees F.) dry place.

Pumpkins and squashes of winter varieties keep best when they are mature. Storing is done in single layers in a medium warm, dry place. Immaturity and humidity will cause pumpkins and squashes to decay.

PROPER STORAGE NEEDED TO KEEP APPLE QUALITY

The value of apples as they come out of storage is largely determined by storage management methods. Proper temperature, humidity, and ventilation are the most important considerations.

With the common, unrefrigerated storage, the most difficult problem is to maintain proper temperature, especially early in the season. High temperature increases the rate of fruit ripening and shortens the storage life. A reduction of 18 degrees slows down the ripening about half to a third of its former rate. It is essential, therefore, to cool the fruit to desired temperature as rapidly as possible. Without refrigerating machinery, this can be done best by continuous ventilation day and night as long as the outside temperature in the shade is lower than that in the stacks in the storage room and there is no danger of freezing.

This ventilation, in addition to cooling the fruit, removes certain products of respiration which otherwise would be harmful.

Recent experimental work has shown that well-sprayed, carefully handled fruit picked at the proper maturity and packed in oiled paper will develop better flavor and more attractive ground color when held at 35 to 36 degrees. However, varieties which are susceptible to storage scald and are not packed in oiled paper, or fruit which has been carelessly handled should be held at 31 to 32 degrees to retard scald and decay.

Sufficiently humidity in the storage is needed to prevent wilting of the fruit. While 35 per cent relative humidity is enough for a temperature of 31 to 32 degrees, with high temperatures 90 per cent is preferable. If equipment is not available for determining the relative humidity, the fruit should be inspected frequently for signs of wilting. If shriveling is noticed, water must be supplied by frequent sprinkling of the floor and walls.

RAYONS COME CLEAN WITH CAREFUL WASHING

Do you have rayon? You probably have, for last year the sale of rayon far exceeded the sale of silk. Rayon is not a substitute for any other fiber, but it is a man-made product for use in fabrics that are smooth or textured, dull or shiny, stiff or soft, cool or warm, explains Miss Julia Markie, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county. It is combined with other fibers to give new color and texture effects.

Like any other material, rayon may be of good or poor quality. For satisfactory service, look for labels that identify rayon as tested according to certain specifications, she advises.

When you buy garments save the labels and read carefully the cleaning directions. Then wash or send to a reliable dry cleaner as suggested on the label.

Simply made garments of smooth materials and light colors may be washed successfully at home.

The first time you wash a garment, where fit is important, measure it. Measurements serve as a guide when pressing to get the garment back to its original size.

Wash rayon in the mild, lukewarm suds—never soak. Test the belt or small sample of fabric before washing colors, and always use separate wash waters for strong colors.

Rayon is not a strong fiber when wet, so never twist or pull—just squeeze or press water from the fabric. Rayon regains its original strength when dry.

Roll the garment in a turkish towel and knead to remove excess moisture. The fabric will dry faster and have fewer creases after this treatment.

Dry all knitted and heavy garments flat so they won't pull out of shape. Hang rayon in the shade and away from heat. If possible, do not use clothespins.

When the fabric is nearly dry, shape the garment to its original size. When dry or slightly moist, iron or press on the wrong side with a moderately hot iron. Some irons are equipped with controls that regulate the amount of heat needed for the various fabrics, and this is a big help toward successful pressing. If you find it necessary to use more moisture to remove wrinkles, press through slightly dampened cheesecloth. Try to avoid pressing through double thicknesses.

You will find that rayon does not easily mildew, perspiration does not injure the fiber readily, and white rayon stays white.

The "monsters delicious" a native plant of Trinidad, has the combined taste of bananas, pineapples and strawberries.

I'D WALK A MILE FOR THE EXTRAS IN A SLOW-BURNING CAMEL. CAMELS ARE EXTRA MILD, BUT THE FLAVOR'S ALL THERE—EXTRA FLAVOR

SMOKERS: SAVE THE COST OF THE STATE CIGARETTE TAX

Smokers who live in communities where certain state cigarette taxes are in effect can save the cost of the tax—and, in some instances, more—through smoking Camels. (See panel at right.) When you are a Camel smoker, you get the extra enjoyment of and all the extra enjoyment of the cooler, milder smoking—the fragrance and delicate taste of finer, more costly tobaccos.

THE ARMCHAIR above is his cockpit—but Bill Miller flies as many as 100 planes a day. North, south, east, and west from New York's LaGuardia Field (air view upper right) his radio control-room directs the flying course of American's flagships.

Flier, navigator, engineer, traffic executive all in one—yes, flight superintendent Bill Miller is a man with the extras—a man who gets the smoking extras, too... in Camels.

For Camel's costlier tobaccos and slower way of burning give you more than mildness—they give you extra mildness and coolness with a flavor that holds its appeal right through the last extra puff. Camels also give you extra smoking per pack (see right).

Like the other draft boards of Pennsylvania the four boards appointed in Lawrence County are somewhat confused. The instructions issued thus far are scanty and it looks as though the boards would have to go ahead and organize and make some rules of their own.

A meeting will be held tonight by the two boards assigned to the City of New Castle. An endeavor will be made to get organized. No quarters have been secured as yet and inasmuch as the boards are to get them rent free it looks as though the county commissioners would have to give them some space.

Four sentences were handed down Saturday by Judges W. Walter Braham and Thomas W. Dickey. Brant Evans up on a serious moral charge was sent to the western penitentiary for a period of from 2 1/2 to 5 years.

William Bartley, burglary, six months to a year in the Lawrence county jail.

Arthur D. Sankey, driving while intoxicated was fined $100 and costs and thirty days to the county jail. If he pays the fine and costs and makes a $15 damage bill good he gets out in five days.

Gerald A. Schooley, arson. He pleaded nolle contendere to several counts of arson and draws a two-year suspension if he makes good $825 damage he caused by the fires he started.

It won't be necessary for Judge W. Walter Braham to get a chivalry ball after all. The case of Rose Dombrowski administrator in the estate of Edward Dombrowski and Stanley Dombrowski administrator in the estate of Ignace Dombrowski against the International Workers' Order has been settled.

The case arose out of the deaths of Edward and Ignace Dombrowski on July 31. The two men were found dead in Shenango township, both the victims of bullets. The police authorities concluded from finger prints found on the gun that Edward, who was a nephew of Ignace Dombrowski, had shot his uncle and then committed suicide. Both were dead when they were found and no one knows who died first.

Ignace Dombrowski had an insurance policy in which Edward, his nephew, was the beneficiary. If Ignace Dombrowski died first, the money would belong to the widow of Edward. If Edward died first the money would belong to the estate of Ignace Dombrowski.

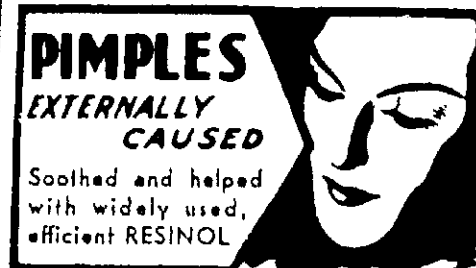

After half a day's trial of the case the two plaintiffs got together and agreed on a settlement, $500.00 going to Rose Dombrowski and $270 to Stanley Dombrowski. The insurance order agreed to the settlement. The balance of the money went for funeral expenses.

D. H. I. A. REPORT

Wayne Walker and Frank Wright, testers for the Lawrence County Dairy Herd Improvement Association report the new testing year for the association has begun. Thirty-seven herds with a total of 705 cows are now in the association. For the month of September 1940, 76 cows produced over 40-pounds of butter fat and 53 cows exceeded 1000 pounds of milk for the 30-day testing period. The average cow in the association produced 5272 pounds milk and 23.6 pounds butter fat for the month with an average test of 4.4%.

The ten high cows in butterfat production for the month averaged 1,145 pounds milk and 58.2 pounds butter fat. A six-year old Holstein owned by John Benson, R. D. No. 7, Mahoningtown, led the association in butterfat production with a record of 1,734 pounds milk and 64.2 pounds butter fat for the month. Second high was a 14-year old Jersey owned by Wm. W. McCombs, Mahoningtown, R. D. No. 7, whose production was 1,185 pounds milk and 62.8 pounds butterfat. A five-year old Jersey owned by H. L. McCurley came third in the list with a production of 615 pounds butterfat, and fourth place in the group was a Jersey owned by R. N. Moore, Volant, Pa., with a record of 59.1 pounds butter fat and fifth in the list was a Jersey owned by Hyllmede Farm, Beaver, with a production of 57.6 pounds butter fat. The five other cows that were listed in the ten high cows in butterfat production were owned by the following members, J. C. Shoemaker, Enon Valley; Harold Green, R. No. 3, New Castle; J. B. Elder, Volant, K. R. Brenner, Rochester, and W. R. Fox, Enon Valley.

The six cow herd of J. B. Elder led the association in both milk and butter fat production for the month by producing 1,108.7 pounds milk and 39.4 pounds butter fat. Second high herd in milk production was owned by John Benson, whose 23 cows averaged 826 pounds milk. Third high herd was owned by K. R. Brenner with sixteen cows and an average production of 794.1 pounds milk. With 48 cows the Everglad Dairy, Pulaski was fourth in the association, and had an average of 711.2 pounds milk.

The 12-cow herd of G. L. Lockhart and Son, New Castle, R. No. 5, was fifth with a production of 669.5 pounds milk.

The 18-cow Jersey herd owned by Lauren Thompson, New Wilmington was second in the Association in butter fat production with an average of 33.15 pounds. Third place went to the 17-cow herd of J. C. Shoemaker, with an average production of 31.52 pounds butterfat per cow, and fourth place went to K. R. Brenner's herd whose average was 31.41 pounds per cow, and Wm. W. McCombs was the owner of the herd which had fifth place with a production of 30.36 pounds butter fat.

535 CLUB MEMBERS SELL 1,087 PIGS IN ROUND-UPS

Members of 4-H pig feeding clubs in 15 counties recently concluded their efforts in the successful sale of 1,087 hogs for $15,392.76. There were 535 club members represented in the selling and the total weight of the animals sold was 198,030 pounds.

Seven sales were conducted and 444 club members in 13 counties took part in these sales. The counties were Armstrong, Butler, Chester, Clinton, Cumberland, Dauphin, Fayette, Franklin, Lancaster, Lawrence, Lebanon, Lycoming, and Mercer.

The pigs were graded within weight classifications and sold on grade. There were 886 hogs weighing 151,720 pounds. They brought a total of $12,542.14. The average weight was 184.6 pounds per pig. The average price was $7.82 per hundred pounds, and the average value was $14.44 per pig. The best average prices were received for the class weighing from 191 to 220 pounds.

Lawrence County Club members sold their pigs through the District sale held at the Pittsburgh Stock Yards. The best pigs topped the market price on the days sold by 25 cents a hundred weight.

WATCH THE HUMIDITY IN THE EGG CELLAR

Egg quality usually drops in the fall soon after the furnace fires are started. The reason for this is that the fires dry out the cellars.

A temperature and humidity reading was taken in early September in a house cellar where a furnace fire was burning. Readings also were taken outdoors. The temperature of the cellar was 74 degrees, while outside the temperature was 67. In the cellar the relative humidity was only 46 per cent; outside the relative humidity was 80 per cent.

For best egg quality the temperature should be kept under 65 degrees with the relative humidity at about 75 per cent.

LONGER USE COMES WITH STORING OF VEGETABLES

In many sections of Pennsylvania tomatoes, eggplants, peppers, pumpkins, squash, and sweet potatoes were saved from the first frosts by protected locations or by the protection of foliage covering.

Tomatoes, eggplants, and peppers can be kept for several weeks to a month after removal from the garden or field if simple rules are followed.

The fruits should be full sized and mature even if the tomatoes are green. Careful handling will prevent bruising. They are placed in a single layer on shelves or on the cellar floor where it is moist enough to keep them from wilting and where it is fairly cool. Ripening of the tomatoes will be hastened by putting them in a warmer place of about 65 degrees Fahrenheit.

Sweet potatoes should be dug before frost kills the vines or immediately afterward. Careful handling is necessary to avoid bruising of the tender, moist skin. Drying them in the air or where the wind strikes them will harden the skin. They are placed in a warm, dry place (preferably with artificial heat) for several weeks to drive off excess moisture. The sweet potatoes then are stored in a fairly warm (50 degrees F.) dry place.

Pumpkins and squashes of winter varieties keep best when they are mature. Storing is done in single layers in a medium warm, dry place. Immaturity and humidity will cause pumpkins and squashes to decay.

PROPER STORAGE NEEDED TO KEEP APPLE QUALITY

The value of apples as they come out of storage is largely determined by storage management methods. Proper temperature, humidity, and ventilation are the most important considerations.

With the common, unrefrigerated storage, the most difficult problem is to maintain proper temperature, especially early in the season. High temperature increases the rate of fruit ripening and shortens the storage life. A reduction of 18 degrees slows down the ripening about half to a third of its former rate. It is essential, therefore, to cool the fruit to desired temperature as rapidly as possible. Without refrigerating machinery, this can be done best by continuous ventilation day and night as long as the outside temperature in the shade is lower than that in the stacks in the storage room and there is no danger of freezing.

This ventilation, in addition to cooling the fruit, removes certain products of respiration which otherwise would be harmful.

Recent experimental work has shown that well-sprayed, carefully handled fruit picked at the proper maturity and packed in oiled paper will develop better flavor and more attractive ground color when held at 35 to 38 degrees. However, varieties which are susceptible to storage scald and are not packed in oiled paper, or fruit which has been carelessly handled should be held at 31 to 32 degrees to retard scald and decay.

Sufficiently humidity in the storage is needed to prevent wilting of the fruit. While 85 per cent relative humidity is enough for a temperature of 31 to 32 degrees, with high temperatures 90 per cent is preferable. If equipment is not available for determining the relative humidity, the fruit should be inspected frequently for signs of wilting. If shriveling is noticed, water must be supplied by frequent sprinkling of the floor and walls.

RAYONS COME CLEAN WITH CAREFUL WASHING

Do you have rayon? You probably have, for last year the sale of rayon far exceeded the sale of silk. Rayon is not a substitute for any other fiber, but it is a man-made product for use in fabrics that are smooth or textured, dull or shiny, stiff or soft, cool or warm, explains Miss Julia Martie, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county. It is combined with other fibers to give new color and texture effects.

Like any other material, rayon may be of good or poor quality. For satisfactory service, look for labels that identify rayon as tested according to certain specifications, she advises.

When you buy garments save the labels and read carefully the cleaning directions. Then wash or send to a reliable dry cleaner as suggested on the label.

Generally you will find that simply made garments of smooth materials and light colors may be washed successfully at home.

The first time you wash a garment, where it is important, measure it. Measurements serve as a guide when pressing to get the garment to its original size.

Wash rayon in thick, mild, lukewarm suds—never soak. Test the belt or small sample of fabric before washing colors, and always use separate wash waters for strong colors.

Rayon is not a strong fiber when wet, so never twist or pull—just squeeze or press water from the fabric. Rayon regains its original strength when dry.

Roll the garment in a turkish towel and knead to remove excess moisture. The fabric will dry faster and have fewer creases after this treatment.

Dry all knitted and heavy garments flat so they won't pull out of shape. Hang rayon in the shade and away from heat. If possible, do not use clothespins.

When the fabric is nearly dry, shape the garment to its original size. When dry or slightly moist, iron or press on the wrong side with a moderately hot iron. Some irons are equipped with controls that regulate the amount of heat needed for the various fabrics, and this is a big help toward successful pressing. If you find it necessary to use more moisture to remove wrinkles, press through slightly dampened cheesecloth. Try to avoid pressing through double thicknesses.

You will find that rayon does not easily mildew, perspiration does not injure the fiber readily, and white rayon stays white.

The "monsters delicious" a native plant of Trinidad, has the combined taste of bananas, pineapples and strawberries.

Expect Draft Lottery On Tuesday, October 29

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. — Announcement of detailed plans for the national draft lottery was expected today.

The plans, it was learned, are virtually complete and await only approval by President Roosevelt.

According to best information, the lottery will be held in Washington on Tuesday, Oct. 29—just a week from tomorrow.

Meanwhile, National Draft Director Clarence A. Dykstra urged the 6,500 local conscription boards throughout the country to "use all possible" speed to give the 17,000,000 men who registered under the draft law last Wednesday their serial numbers.

Dykstra pointed out that the serial numbers must be posted before the lottery can be held. He explained it was up to local boards to take four steps and quickly. The draft director listed the steps as follows:

1. Examination of all cards to make sure that they belong to men in the area of the local board.
2. Each board must place their cards in one pile, and "shuffle them thoroughly" to insure "accidental sequence."
3. A separate serial number must be given each card in the order of its accidental sequence.
4. The board must prepare master lists of registrants in the order of the numbers and post them publicly.

Only then, according to Dykstra, can the lottery be conducted to determine which of the potential conscripts will be mustered into the army first for a year of military training.

Present plans call for the start of training for 800,000 conscripts by next June, with the first 30,000 going into camp less than a month from now.

first delegate, Mrs. Anna Lewis; second delegate, Mrs. Edna Woods; third delegate, Mrs. Helen Ray.

The state convention will be held the last week of August in Philadelphia. On November 18, the installation will take place while the next regular meeting is dated for Monday, November 4. This is a change, the meetings to be held the first and third Mondays of the month, from now on.

After the awarding of the drawing prize to Mrs. Martha Batholomew, lunch was served by a committee of three: Mrs. Eliza Houson, Betty Jane Davis and Bonita Houson.

There will be a party on Thursday evening for members and friends, at the home of Mrs. Marian Morgan on East Washington street, instead of tonight as previously planned.

Several Changes In Street Lights

Lights Added Under Provisions
Of Schedule Which Recently Became Effective

Under the terms of the street lighting schedule between the Pennsylvania Power company and the city of New Castle, which became effective August 1, the city can add the equivalent of $5,469 worth of illumination without additional charge, according to a letter from the company read in city council session, held in the municipal building today. The new schedule also provides for a reduction of $3,540 annually.

According to the information, the company, at the direction of council September 19, ordered changes made in several places, as follows:

One 250 candlepower light at Walls and Union streets.

One 250 candlepower light at West Winter avenue and Locust street.

One 250 candlepower light relocated. The light formerly was on Butler avenue near Raymond street and has been removed so as to illuminate the entrance to Raymond street.

The changes were made effective October 15.

"We would like to point out that the addition of these two new lights will not result in any charge to the city," the letter stated. "It will be recalled that the schedule which became effective August 1, 1940, resulted in an annual reduction to the city of $3,540."

"This new rate also makes it possible for the city to add the equivalent of $5,469 lighting without additional charge."

How times change! We can remember when people worried about a little forty billion debt.

Expect Draft Lottery On Tuesday, October 29

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. — Announcement of detailed plans for the national draft lottery was expected today.

The plans, it was learned, are virtually complete and await only approval by President Roosevelt.

According to best information, the lottery will be held in Washington on Tuesday, Oct. 29—just a week from tomorrow.

Meanwhile, National Draft Director Clarence A. Dykstra urged the 6,500 local conscription boards throughout the country to "use all possible" speed to give the 17,000,000 men who registered under the draft law last Wednesday their serial numbers.

Dykstra pointed out that the serial numbers must be posted before the lottery can be held. He explained it was up to local boards to take four steps and quickly. The draft director listed the steps as follows:

1. Examination of all cards to make sure that they belong to men in the area of the local board.
2. Each board must place their cards in one pile, and "shuffle them thoroughly" to insure "accidental sequence."
3. A separate serial number must be given each card in the order of its accidental sequence.
4. The board must prepare master lists of registrants in the order of the numbers and post them publicly.

Only then, according to Dykstra, can the lottery be conducted to determine which of the potential conscripts will be mustered into the army first for a year of military training.

Present plans call for the start of training for 800,000 conscripts by next June, with the first 30,000 going into camp less than a month from now.

first delegate, Mrs. Anna Lewis; second delegate, Mrs. Edna Woods; third delegate, Mrs. Helen Ray.

The state convention will be held the last week of August in Philadelphia. On November 18, the installation will take place while the next regular meeting is dated for Monday, November 4. This is a change, the meetings to be held the first and third Mondays of the month, form now on.

After the awarding of the drawing prize to Mrs. Martha Batholomew, lunch was served by a committee of three: Mrs. Eliza Houston, Betty Jane Davis and Benita Houston.

There will be a party on Thursday evening for members and friends, at the home of Mrs. Marian Morgan on East Washington street, instead of tonight as previously planned.

Several Changes In Street Lights

Lights Added Under Provisions
Of Schedule Which Recently Became Effective

Under the terms of the street lighting schedule between the Pennsylvania Power company and the city of New Castle, which became effective August 1, the city can add the equivalent of $5,469 worth of illumination without additional charge, according to a letter from the company read in city council session, held in the municipal building today. The new schedule also provides for a reduction of $3,540 annually.

According to the information, the company, at the direction of council September 19, ordered changes made in several places, as follows:

One 250 candlepower light at Walls and Union streets.

One 250 candlepower light at West Winter avenue and Locust street.

One 250 candlepower light relocated. The light formerly was on Butler avenue near Raymond street and has been removed so as to illuminate the entrance to Raymond street.

The changes were made effective October 15.

"We would like to point out that the addition of these two new lights will not result in any charge to the city," the letter stated. "It will be recalled that the schedule which became effective August 1, 1940, resulted in an annual reduction to the city of $3,540."

"This new rate also makes it possible for the city to add the equivalent of $5,469 lighting without additional charge."

How times change! We can remember when people worried about a little forty billion debt.

Second Week Of Court Session

Auto Damage Cases Are Called
As First On Schedule
This Week

October sessions of the Court of Common Pleas went into the second week today in the court house when a new jury panel was sworn and new cases taken up. Only six jurors of the seventy were excused, a small number.

In court room number one the case of Clara Headland of Butler county against George Schuster and the Midwest Haulers, Inc., went to trial before Judge W. Walter Braham.

The case is one in which damages are asked for injuries alleged to have been sustained on June 20, 1939. Mrs. Headland was riding in a car between Harlansburg and New Castle on route 108 when her car collided with a truck of the defendants. She alleges reckless driving caused the accident.

In court room number two the case of the Greenlight Taxi Cab company against Frank P. Andrews and son was called. This is a cross suit both litigants claiming the other to have been at fault. On July 13, 1939 at 11:45 p. m. a taxi of the Andrews' company collided in Grant street. Both sides claim damages.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

JEALOUSY AMONG CHILDREN

I was unwilling spectator the other day to a happening in a home where there is a new baby. It aroused me so much I felt impelled to speak sharply to the person responsible. This person was an uncle of the new arrival, and he had just paid his first visit to his nephew. He paid elaborate compliments to the parents, with-in the hearing of the older child in the family. Then, he turned to this older, his nephew, and twitted him in such words as, "Well, Tommy, you're not the lord of the manor anymore."

The child, already very solemn and unlike his usual self, ran from the room on the verge of tears. The uncle laughed. It seemed to him a great joke that Tommy "couldn't take it."

He had, however, unwittingly, cruelly hurt a child. He had always been a hero to his nephew. Heretofore, whenever he visited the home, he brought Tommy presents, talked to him and played with him. This time he had given all his attention, except the few twitting words, to the newcomer. Tommy had been having similar experiences with his other adult relatives. Consequently, it took no great power of observation on my part to see that Tommy was going to be a problem in the home, because of his jealousy of his new brother.

Frequently the joy of the arrival of a new baby in the home is marred by an outburst of jealousy on the part of the older child. Parents often discover this problem with a good deal of surprise and annoyance. Yet it is perfectly natural that a boy or girl, who has had the whole home revolve around him for a few years, should be jealous of the little stranger who is sharing the affection and attention he once had all to himself.

Parents who expect a new arrival should realize how the event may affect an older child and take the proper precautions. If they are, there is no reason why this jealousy can't be prevented. If it isn't, it is bound to cause a lot of unhappiness in the family.

Naturally, when a new baby arrives, the mother's time is almost completely taken up for a while. She hasn't the time she formerly had to spend with the older children. At the same time the newcomer's arrival causes a lot of confusion and inconvenience in the home. The older children naturally look for someone to blame for this unpleasantness—of course, it is the new arrival who is blamed.

They observe, too, that when visitors come to the house it is the new baby who gets the attention. So the older children get to feeling more and more neglected. Often they get the idea they are no longer loved nor wanted at home. Particularly is this true if they are unusually sensitive by nature.

Thoughtless visitors will often compare the baby with the older child and remark that the infant "has a nicer mouth than Jimmy". Or a remark like this may fall on Jimmy's ears. "Yes, well, glad it's a girl. I wanted a girl when Jimmy was born." These are the days, too, when Jimmy finds his freedom restricted. He is admonished: "Keep quiet, baby is sleeping." And since babies sleep a great deal of the time Jimmy begins to feel that the house is run entirely for the benefit of the newcomer.

Now, this whole picture can be changed if parents will just be a bit thoughtful. If the older child is a boy, the father can do a whole lot to make Jimmy feel better by joking with him about the way "we men" are neglected when a baby arrives. He can point out to his son that he isn't the only one who is being forgotten in the general excitement. He can compensate for the mother's lack of attention by giving more of his own. If the older child is a girl, then she can nearly always be appealed to by being given a share in the responsibility of looking after the younger one. All parents have to do it to show the older child that instead of resenting the newcomer, it is his or her duty to make the little stranger from the other world at home.

BOOTS-PEFFER

In the home of Mrs. E. N. Boots of the Ellwood City-Zellenople road, Thursday morning at 11:30 o'clock, Miss Elizabeth Boots and Charles W. Peffer, son of Mrs. Rebecca Peffer of Scott Ridge, were united in marriage in the presence of immediate families and close friends.

The vows were exchanged before an improvised altar of ferns and fall flowers, with Rev. E. O. McCaslin, pastor of the Zellenople U. P. church, officiating with the single ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony nuptial music was played by Mrs. Ralph Boots. To the familiar strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March the bride entered on the arm of her brother, Ralph Boots.

The bride was attractive in a soldier blue ensemble with black accessories, and wore a shoulder corsage of roses and baby mums.

Mrs. Boots, mother of the bride, was attired in hunter green, and the bridegroom's mother was gowned in wine crepe.

After the wedding service a dinner was served by Mrs. Ralph Boots and Mrs. William Steffler of Wurttemberg, an aunt of the bride.

Later in the day the couple left for a southern wedding trip, with the bride wearing a wine ensemble with black accessories.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Peffer are graduates of the Zellenople high school, and the latter is a graduate of the Slippery Rock Teachers college. For several years she has been a teacher in the Franklin Township schools. Mrs. Peffer is employed by the Rubright Truck company of Middle Lancaster.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

JEALOUSLY AMONG CHILDREN

I was unwilling spectator the other day to a happening in a home where there is a new baby. It aroused me so much I felt impelled to speak sharply to the person responsible. This person was an uncle of the new arrival, and he had just paid his first visit to his nephew. He paid elaborate compliments to the parents, with-in the hearing of the older child in the family. Then, he turned to this older, his nephew, and twitted him in such words as, "Well, Tommy, you're not the lord of the manor anymore."

The child, already very solemn and unlike his usual self, ran from the room on the verge of tears. The uncle laughed. It seemed to him a great joke that Tommy "couldn't take it."

He had, however, unwittingly, cruelly hurt a child. He had always been a hero to his nephew. Heretofore, whenever he visited the home, he brought Tommy presents, talked to him and played with him. This time he had given all his attention, except the few twitting words, to the newcomer. Tommy had been having similar experiences with his other adult relatives. Consequently, it took no great power of observation on my part to see that Tommy was going to be a problem in the home, because of his jealousy of his new brother.

Frequently the joy of the arrival of a new baby in the home is marred by an outburst of jealousy on the part of the older child. Parents often discover this problem with a good deal of surprise and annoyance. Yet it is perfectly natural that a boy or girl, who has had the whole home revolve around him for a few years, should be jealous of the little stranger who is sharing the affection and attention he once had all to himself.

Parents who expect a new arrival should realize how the event may affect an older child and take the proper precautions. If they are, there is no reason why this jealousy can't be prevented. If it isn't, it is bound to cause a lot of unhappiness in the family.

Naturally, when a new baby arrives, the mother's time is almost completely taken up for a while. She hasn't the time she formerly had to spend with the older children. At the same time the newcomer's arrival causes a lot of confusion and inconvenience in the home. The older children naturally look for someone to blame for this unpleasantness—of course, it is the new arrival who is blamed.

They observe, too, that when visitors come to the house it is the new baby who gets the attention. So the older children get to feeling more and more neglected. Often, they get the idea they are no longer loved nor wanted at home. Particularly is this true if they are unusually sensitive by nature.

Thoughtless visitors will often compare the baby with the older child and remark that the infant "has a nicer mouth than Jimmy". Or a remark like this may fall on Jimmy's ears: "Yes, we're glad it's a girl. I wanted a girl when Jimmy was born." These are the days, too, when Jimmy finds his freedom restricted. He is admonished: "Keep quiet, baby is sleeping". And since babies sleep a great deal of the time Jimmy begins to feel that the house is run entirely for the benefit of the newcomer.

Now, this whole picture can be changed if parents will just be a bit thoughtful. If the older child is a boy, the father can do a whole lot to make Jimmy feel better by joking with him about the way "we men" are neglected when a baby arrives. He can point out to his son that he isn't the only one who is being forgotten in the general excitement. He can compensate for the mother's lack of attention by giving more of his own. If the older child is a girl, then she can nearly always be appealed to by being given a share in the responsibility of looking after the younger one. All parents have to do it to show the older child that instead of resenting the newcomer, it is his or her duty to make the little stranger from the other world at home.

BOOTS-PFEFFER

In the home of Mrs. E. N. Boots of the Ellwood City-Zellenople road, Thursday morning at 11:30 o'clock, Miss Elizabeth Boots and Charles W. Pfeffer, son of Mrs. Rebecca Pfeffer of Scott Ridge, were united in marriage in the presence of immediate families and close friends.

The vows were exchanged before an improvised altar of ferns and fall flowers, with Rev. R. O. McCaslin, pastor of the Zellenople U. P. church, officiating with the single ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony nuptial music was played by Mrs. Ralph Boots. To the familiar strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March the bride entered on the arm of her brother, Ralph Boots.

The bride was attractive in a soldier blue ensemble with black accessories, and wore a shoulder corsage of roses and baby mums.

Mrs. Boots, mother of the bride, was attired in hunter green, and the bridegroom's mother was gowned in wine crepe.

After the wedding service a dinner was served by Mrs. Ralph Boots and Mrs. William Steffler of Wurttemberg, an aunt of the bride.

Later in the day the couple left for a southern wedding trip, with the bride wearing a wine ensemble with black accessories.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Pfeffer are graduates of the Zellenople high school, and the latter is a graduate of the Slippery Rock Teachers college. For several years she has been a teacher in the Franklin township schools. Mr. Pfeffer is employed by the Rubright Truck company of Middle Lancaster.

Official announcement of the 1940 list of approved hospitals in the United States and Canada, which was made at the twenty-third annual hospital Standardization Conference, which convened in Chicago this morning, in conjunction with the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons, includes the three Lawrence county hospitals, the Jameson Memorial, New Castle and Ellwood City institutions.

In order to secure the approval of the American College of Surgeons ten requirements, which demand the highest standards of efficiency and equipment must be met. The three Lawrence county hospitals have met all these requirements, showing that the Lawrence county community has the highest type of hospital facilities that are to be found anywhere outside the great clinical centers.

Await Word From White House On Baltimore Date

Willkie Would Share Platform

Republican Candidate Offers To Share Armory For Meeting In Baltimore

PRESIDENT WILL MAKE ADDRESSES

By GEORGE DUNNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—As the 1940 presidential campaign went into the final two weeks, word was awaited from the White House today whether President Roosevelt would speak in Baltimore on Oct. 30 simultaneously with his Republican opponent, Wendell Willkie.

Willkie has the Baltimore Armory engaged for the October 30 date. The president, in a recent press conference, intimated that he might make one of his final five campaign speeches in the Maryland city on the same night.

Momentarily, the White House was silent on Willkie's offer to share the armory platform with Mr. Roosevelt. The armory is the only large enclosed hall in Baltimore.

Willkie Offers Platform
The Willkie offer to debate on the same platform was met with no comment last night as the president returned to Washington from his Hyde Park family home.

Identical aides stood on Mr. Roosevelt's comment at last Friday's press conference. The chief executive at that time announced he would make five evenly spaced political speeches before election day to reply to what he called "the systematic program of falsification" indulged in by his opposition.

The president told newsmen to wait for his speeches to find out what he considered "deliberate falsification" of the issues.

There was reason to believe, however, that he was mainly annoyed by Willkie's repeated charges that Mr. Roosevelt was leading the nation into war.

Another European battlefield, and was playing politics with the national defense program.

Over the week-end President Roosevelt entertained the new Canadian governor-general, the Earl of Athlone, and his family, at Hyde Park.

First of his rebuttals to Willkie's charges will be delivered by the president Wednesday night in Philadelphia. He will speak from Constitution Hall, where last month he accepted an honorary degree from the University of Pennsylvania.

Earlier in the day he will inspect the navy yard and the Fordford arsenal and tour the downtown sections of the city.

Six Meet Death In Strange Air Crash

Plane And Parachutist Collide In Air, Probe Unusual Arkansas Tragedy

(International News Service)

MARIANNA, Ark., Oct. 21.—One of the strangest air accidents on record today confronted investigators seeking an explanation for a mid-air collision between a parachutist and an airplane yesterday, which resulted in the death of six persons.

The chutist, Paul Nalewja, 31, of Boverville, Minn., was hit by the plane as he was about 200 feet from the ground. He dropped to his death as the plane piloted by George Zarn, 27, of Greenville, Miss., and carrying four passengers, zoomed on for a short distance and crashed. All its occupants were killed.

Nalewja had jumped from a second plane in connection with an air show, and among the possibilities considered was one that Zarn may have believed Nalewja was in trouble and had tried in some way to help him. Most likely explanation, however, authorities said, was that Zarn's ship was out of control when it struck Nalewja.

Await Word From White House On Baltimore Date

Willkie Would Share Platform

Republican Candidate Offers To Share Armory For Meeting In Baltimore

PRESIDENT WILL MAKE ADDRESSES

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—As the 1940 presidential campaign went into the final two weeks, word was awaited from the White House today whether President Roosevelt would speak in Baltimore on Oct. 30 simultaneously with his Republican opponent, Wendell Willkie.

Willkie has the Baltimore Armory engaged for the October 30 date. The president, in a recent press conference, intimated that he might make one of his final five campaign speeches in the Maryland city on the same night.

Momentarily, the White House was silent on Willkie's offer to share the armory platform with Mr. Roosevelt. The armory is the only large enclosed hall in Baltimore.

Willkie Offers Platform
The Willkie offer to debate on the same platform was met with no comment last night as the president returned to Washington from his Hyde Park family home.

Presidential aides stood on Mr. Roosevelt's comment at last Friday's press conference. The chief executive at that time announced he would make five avowedly political speeches before election day to reply to what he called "the systematic program of falsification" indulged in by his opposition.

The president told newsmen to wait for his speeches to find out what he considered "deliberate falsification" of the issues.

There was reason to believe, however, that he was mainly annoyed by Willkie's repeated charges that Mr. Roosevelt was leading the nation into war, American youth into another European battlefield, and was playing politics with the national defense program.

Over the week-end President Roosevelt entertained the new Canadian governor-general, the Earl of Athlone, and his family, at Hyde Park.

First of his rebuttals to Willkie's charges will be delivered by the president Wednesday night in Philadelphia. He will speak from Constitution Hall, where last month he accepted an honorary degree from the University of Pennsylvania. Earlier in the day he will inspect the navy yard and the Frankford arsenal and tour the downtown sections of the city.

LAND OF PLENTY
If poor people had the same diet as rich people, economists estimate between 25 and 30 million more acres would be required to feed America.

Six Meet Death In Strange Air Crash

Plane And Parachutist Collide In Air, Probe Unusual Arkansas Tragedy

(International News Service)

MARIANNA, Ark., Oct. 21.—One of the strangest air accidents on record today confronted investigators seeking an explanation for a mid-air collision between a parachutist and an airplane yesterday, which resulted in the death of six persons.

The 'chutist, Paul Nalewja, 31, of Bowersville, Minn., was hit by the plane as he was about 200 feet from the ground. He dropped to his death as the plane piloted by George Zarn, 27, of Greenville, Miss., and carrying four passengers, zoomed on for a short distance and crashed. All its occupants were killed.

Nalewja had jumped from a second plane in connection with an air show, and among the possibilities considered was one that Zarn may have believed Nalewja was in trouble and had tried in some way to help him. ## Ellwood-Midland Play Scoreless Tie

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21.—With snow falling steadily and a wet and slippery field, the Ellwood City Wolverines and the favored Midland Leopards battled to a scoreless tie at the Midland field Saturday before a crowd of 3000 fans.

Despite the advantage that such a condition would give the heavier Midland team, the locals proved equal to the task and battled them to a standstill. Due to the condition of the field, the locals were only able to use straight football with "Monk" Matrangoli doing most of the ball totting with line plunges.

In view of the statistics and developments of the game, the Blue and White outplayed their opponents. The Wolverines twice penetrated the Midland ten-yard mark but lost the ball on both occasions, once on the 8-yard line, and the other time on the 10-yard marker, while Midland threatened also on two occasions, but being held for downs on the Ellwood 13 and 9-yard line respectively.

The Wolverines outgained the Leopards, 169 yards to 138, and the first downs were 8 to 7 in Ellwood's favor.

Ellwood Line Holds

Previous to today's game, Midland was sporting an enviable record of five consecutive victories without a point being scored upon it, and were in the running for the W. P. I. A. L. Class AA race, but the tie now eliminates Midland for the title bid.

Dave Alston received Matrangoli's opening kickoff on his 20-yard line and returned it to the 25. With Dave and Harry Alston lugging the ball on practically every play, they advanced the ball to Ellwood's 21 on four first downs. Here the Ellwood line gave a fine exhibit, stiffened and stiffened and three line plunges and an incomplete pass by Dave Alston, netted only eight yards. Ellwood took the ball on their own 13 and with Matrangoli and Reino reeling off long gains marched to the Midland 26-yard line, with three first downs, as the first period ended. The Wolverines added another first down, but lost the ball on downs on the Midland 10-yard line. In this march Matrangoli reeled off runs of 21, 19 and 11 yards.

Rally Falls Short

Midway in the second quarter, the Wolverines made their second and last scoring threat with a series of first downs, which advanced the ball from their own 45 to Midland's eight-yard line. Here the Wolverines running attack stalled with Matrangoli gained only two yards in two running plays and Reino slipped on an off-lackie play for no gain and on fourth down Matrangoli was smothered on an attempted pass as the half ended.

Early in the third period the Leopards, aided by a poor kick by Reino, which traveled only 13 yards, made their best scoring effort. Taking Reino's punt on the Wolverine 27-yard line, Midland advanced the pigskin to the Ellwood 15-yard marker. On two attempts at right guard, Dave Alston was stopped for no gain by tackle, Harry Hughes, and Harry Alston was stopped by Matrangoli for no gain on an attempted end run. On the fourth down, Dave Alston plunged through for nine yards and was short of a first down and Midland made its last serious scoring threat, surrendering the ball on the Ellwood 6-yard line.

The rest of the contest was played in the center of the gridiron with both teams trying futile passes and neither team making a scoring threat.

Locals Praised

The feat of holding the powerful Midland Leopards to a scoreless deadlock was indeed a moral victory for the Wolverines and stamped the Croftmen as a powerful eleven.

The work of Al Fishneri, Harry Hughes and Bob Ross in the line and Matrangoli and Morrison in the backfield was outstanding for Ellwood. Rakas, Hunter, Dave and Harry Alston were best for Midland. The Wolverines are preparing for the invasion of Allquippa eleven, which eliminated Ambridge in the W. P. I. A. L. Class AA race by holding them to a scoreless deadlock Saturday at the Lincoln field next Saturday.

Ellwood-Midland Play Scoreless Tie

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21.—With snow falling steadily and a wet and slippery field, the Ellwood City Wolverines and the favored Midland Leopards battled to a scoreless tie at the Midland field Saturday before a crowd of 3000 fans.

Despite the advantage that such a condition would give the heavier Midland team, the locals proved equal to the task and battled them to a standstill. Due to the condition of the field, the locals were only able to use straight football with "Monk" Matrangol doing most of the ball totting with line plunges. In view of the statistics and developments of the game, the Blue and White outplayed their opponents. The Wolverines twice penetrated the Midland ten-yard mark but lost the ball on both occasions, once on the 8-yard line, and the other time on the 10-yard marker, while Midland threatened also on two occasions, but being held for downs on the Ellwood 13 and 6-yard line respectively. The Wolverines outgained the Leopards, 169 yards to 138, and the first downs were 8 to 7 in Ellwood's favor.

Ellwood Line Holds
Previous to today's game, Midland was sporting an enviable record of five consecutive victories without a point being scored upon it, and were in the running for the W. P. I. A. L. Class AA race, but the new eliminates Midland for the title bid.

Dave Alston received Matrangol's opening kickoff on his 20-yard line and returned it to the 25. With Dave and Harry Alston lugging the ball on practically every play, they advanced the ball to Ellwood's 21 on four first downs. Here the Ellwood line, which gave a fine exhibition all afternoon, stiffened and three line plunges and an incomplete pass by Dave Alston, netted only eight yards. Ellwood took the ball on their own 13 and with Matrangol and Reine reeling off long gains marched to the Midland 26-yard line, with three first downs, as the first period ended. The Wolverines added another first down, but lost the ball on downs on the Midland 10-yard line. In this march Matrangol reeled off runs of 21, 19 and 11 yards.

Rally Falls Short
Midway in the second quarter, the Wolverines made their second and last scoring threat with a series of first downs, which advanced the ball from their own 45 to Midland's eight-yard line. Here the Wolverines running attack stalled with Matrangol gained only two yards in two running plays and Reine slipped on an off-tackle play for no gain and on fourth down Matrangol was smothered on an attempted pass as the half ended.

Early in the third period the Leopards, aided by a poor kick by Reine, which traveled only 13 yards, made their best scoring effort. Taking Reine's punt on the Wolverine 27-yard line, Midland advanced the pigskin to the Ellwood 15-yard marker. On two attempts at right guard, Dave Alston was stopped for no gain by tackle, Harry Hughes, and Harry Alston was stopped by Matrangol for no gain on an attempted end run. On the fourth down, Dave Alston plunged through for nine yards and was short of a first down and Midland made its last serious scoring threat surrendering the ball on the Ellwood 6-yard line.

The rest of the contest was played in the center of the gridiron with both teams trying futile passes and neither team making a scoring threat.

Locals Praised
The feat of holding the powerful Midland Leopards to a scoreless deadlock was indeed a moral victory for the Wolverines and stamped the Croftmans as a powerful eleven. The work of Al Pishioneri, Harry Hughes and Bob Ross in the line and Matrangol and Morrison in the backfield was outstanding for Ellwood. Rakas, Hunter, Dave and Harry Alston were best for Midland. The Wolverines are preparing for the invasion of Alliquippa eleven, which eliminated Ambridge in the W. P. I. A. L. Class AA race by holding them to a scoreless deadlock Saturday at the Lincoln field next Saturday.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Mr. Glymph's employer and wife were dining at the Glymph home.

Just Glymph thought he should attract more attention at table.

So he put on his "refuse to eat" act—which isn't funny.

All children try these tricks at some time or another.

Psychologists call such "a behavior problem."

A trick by any other name would be as distressing to poor mother.

There is only one right way to handle it.

The moment a child refuses to eat food, take it away from him.

He will cry for it.

Mother should be determined and refuse to give it to him.

She should show no nervousness or irritability.

Pampering a pouting child is poor training.

Train Hits Auto; Three Are Killed

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 21.—Three persons were killed and four others seriously injured Sunday afternoon, when a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train crashed into an automobile on a rural grade crossing a mile east of Sebring.

Mahoning county deputy sheriffs listed the dead as:

Harvey Donohue, 21, R. D. 4, Alliance, driver of the car.

Mrs. Edith Donohue, 27, 1318 Jersey street, Alliance, sister-in-law of Harvey Donohue.

George Donohue, 3, her son.

Believe Car Stalled

The injured were listed as:

George Anderson, 35, East Alliance, in serious condition at Salem City hospital; Clara Donohue, 20, Harvey Donohue's wife, in Salem Clinic hospital in serious condition; Louise Donohue, six months, daughter of Edith, minor injuries, in Alliance hospital; Larry Donohue, 17 months, son of Harvey and Clara, believed in serious condition at Alliance City hospital.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Mr. Glymph's employer and wife were dining at the Glymph home. Junior Glymph thought he should attract more attention at table.

So he put on his "refuse to eat" act—which isn't funny.

All children try these tricks at some time or another.

Psychologists call such "a behavior problem."

A trick by any other name would be as distressing to poor mother.

There is only one right way to handle it.

The moment a child refuses to eat food, take it away from him.

He will cry for it.

Mother should be determined and refuse to give it to him.

She should show no nervousness or irritability.

Pampering a pouting child is poor training.

STOP that NOISE
NOISE ABATEMENT WEEK OCT 21-26

It's a great idea — great for nerves and dispositions — great for business and profits — to concentrate on noise for seven days.

But let's do something about noise!

An office doesn't have to resemble a boiler shop.

An office doesn't have to be avoided when you think. You can equip your organization for the lift that comes from working quiet.

Phone for a 10-day trial. No obligation!

Begin with the office's noisiest offender. Free yourself of the nerve fraying staccato of the hammerblow typewriter. Replace the distracting clatter of an obsolete typing principle with the silent whisper of the Remington Noiseless.

Do that and this will happen. First the girls who operate your machines will respond — with better work, more work, faster work. Then you'll note the reaction of their neighbors — clearer thinking, prompter decisions, more timely results. You yourself will reach five o'clock with new zest, far new eagerness for the evening ahead.

Will you test office quiet? On us? Just 'phone Remington Rand. Say: "I'd like to try the Remington Noiseless Typewriter for ten days."

Mr. Howard is no stranger to New Castle people he being a former member of the old Flying Squadron, which many old timers will remember.

Bethany Defeats Westminster 9-0

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 21 | down threat as Bethany intercepted
2 Westminster pass.

A powerful line attack combined with a highly coordinated pass-back gave the Bethany Bisons a 9-0 victory over Westminster here Saturday night.

The Titans' homecoming. A pass from the Titan 24 yard line, Cullison to Kuhns for Bethany, and a placement, boot from the Westminster 10 by Bison Fullerton Hart gave Bethany its 9 point margin and its fourth consecutive win of the season.

The Titans complete their home-season next Saturday, when they meet 'Thiel' in a Dads' Day game.

The lineup:

Westminster	Bethany
Washabaugh . . . L E . . . . .	Kuhns
Harris . . . . . L T . . . . .	Morrill
Lane . . . . . L G . . . . .	Wells

Indoon . . . . . E G . . . . .	Wells
Reit . . . . . R T . . . . .	Myers
Zeel . . . . . R E . . . . .	Gordon

First downs were seven for Bethany to six for Westminster. Most of the Titans first-downs came in their own territory or mid-field, but Westminster lacked the necessary yardage to carry the ball. The Bethany 30-yard line more than sufficed. While the entire first quarter was played in the Bison territory, the Titans drive and defense bogged down in the second half.

(International News Service)
KATONAH, N. Y., Oct. 21.—The tragic accidental death of James Butler 49, president of the Empire State Fish Association and a well known millionaire, was the cause of a pall of sadness over the fall opening of his track at this town to have officiated today.

Butler, son of the founder of a grocery store chain, was apparently killed instantly when hurled head-first into his spirited young horse, which failed to jump over the estate of a neighbor, Robert Chambers. The horse, which Butler was schooling for hunting, was found astride the fence jump. Luke O-

Brien, Butler's secretary, said the horse had apparently been unable to clear the top bar of the 3½-foot fence in the last form of flight.

"Knowing Mr. Butler's wishes," O'Brien said, he ordered today's opening of the Empire City track to proceed as scheduled. Butler leaves a widow and three children.

cently turned in several good plays, although running gains were limited to a minimum by the snowy, icy field.

The first half play of the game was a 45 yard pass, Demoise to Moff in the third quarter, to the 20-yard line; but on the next play the Titans lost their touch-night at the "Y" of all church officials wishing to enter a team in the New Castle Church Basketball league this coming winter. The meeting will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The meeting is not for managers, but church representatives such as laymen, Sunday school superintendents or athletic committeemen.

GRIDIRON PARADE WILD AND WOOLLY

One of the wildest and woolliest football demonstrations in many moons was unfolded Saturday.

Per usual, the day was studied with surprises. For several more seasons, dreams of an undefeated season melted much like the snow that trickled on scores of gridirons throughout the land.

The saddest community in the nation is Pittsburgh. For the first time in years all three Smoky City eleven were tumbling down. Pitt made a mistake scoring first on Fordham. The tally was a signal for the Rams to ram on. They did, piling up a 24-6 edge in the first half and calling it a day. When it ended, Pitt was the loser, 24-12.

Tech Flattened, 61-0
Over in South Bend, some 35,000 persons looked at each other and tried to figure out a bad play from watching six mighty Notre Dame combinations buried Carnegie Tech under an avalanche of touchdowns, 61-0. As you probably guessed, the setback was the worst in the history of the Tartans.

At Oxford, Miss., Duquesne university was far from disgraced in losing a 14-6 decision to Ole Miss. A break in the first half could have easily changed the complexion of things. In New Wilmington, Bethany continued on its undefeated march, piling back Westminster, 9-0.

Lady Luck wouldn't budge in the direction of Ohio State, this partly explaining Minnesota's 13-7 triumph over the Buckeyes. With less than two minutes to go, State moved to the Gopher's 1. A bad play from center sent the spheroid rolling to the 13. With it rolled State's hopes of winning the Big Ten gonfalon.

Vols Win 27-12
Uncorking a devastating attack that left their foes bewildered, Tennessee's talented juggernaut added Alabama to the defeated list, 27-12. John "Gone With the Wind" Butler spearheaded the Vol's productive attack. With the Bama on the keyhole tied, Tennessee is in line for another undefeated campaign. Aided by a few breaks, Holy Cross emerged with a 13-7 edge over New York U. C. L. A. was defeated again.

And, for the third time this season, by the margin of a "boot." This setback twice by field goals, the Uclans lost the same way Saturday, 9-7, California springing the surprise. Penn State's Nittany Lions continued riding in high, mangling Lehigh, 34-0. "Chuck" Peters sprinted 96 yards for one of State's touchdowns.

Western Reserve kayoed favored Baldwin-Wallace, 2-0. On a snow-covered field, Slippery Rock was joined for the second successive time in two years, 15-6, Indiana administering the Vol's productive attack and completed several seconds before the final gun was fired, netting Yale a 13-7 verdict over Dartmouth. Thiel put up stiff resistance but lost to Hiram, 2-0. Oklahoma flattened Kansas State 14-0.

Harmon Shines Again
Tommy Harmon and Michigan moved along the undefeated highway, adding Illinois to the list, 28-0. Harmon topped Red Grange's scoring mark, adding a touchdown, a point conversion and a field goal. So far, Harmon has scored 199 markers, 13 more than the famous "77" amassed during his collegiate career.

Grove City found the winning formula and turned back Allegheny, 14-0. In one of the dizziest games, Tulane bobbed up with its first triumph of the season, a 15-6 decision over Rice. The game was a thrilling exhibition of power plays and abundance of penalties and fumbles.

Sparked by their star, Pres Johnson, Southern Methodist trampled Auburn's Plainsmen, 20-13. S. M. U. held a 20-0 edge at half time and then coasted. Rutgers ran wild.

Five Games For Local Grid Teams

Shenango Township - Union Township Game, Friday, One Of Toppers On Card

Five more classy battles adorn the local program this week as the grid merry-go-round passes the half way mark.

One of the top clashes involves Shenango Township and Union Township, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock on Shenango field.

The tiff is important, so far as the county class B championship is concerned. Union Township, already defeated by Bessemer, still has a mathematical chance to share honors by halting Shenango. Bessemer, to be met later, will be the only obstacle on the road to the title, provided Shenango trips the rugged Scotland Laners.

Under the lamps of Taggart stadium, New Castle High plays host to John Adams of Cleveland, Friday night at 8 o'clock. The clash marks the first game between the schools and also the initial time a New Castle eleven has faced a Cleveland school.

Saturday's program finds Westminster playing host to Thiel at New Wilmington, Ellwood City meeting Allegheny at home and Bessemer journeying to Scienceville High.

Stanford Rolls On
Stanford moved a step closer to fame by subduing Washington, 26-14, and preserving a clean record. Clark Shaughnessy's proteges unraveled power and wizardry to drub State. William and Mary went on a scoring spree, downing Hampden-Sydney, 41-0, while Boston college dumped Idaho by the trackside, 61-0.

Boston U. 41-0
Boston U. was extended but managed to pull in a 14-0 decision over Cincinnati. Washington & Lee barely beat Richmond, 3-0, the field goal coming in the final 40 seconds. Florida handed Maryland a fourth straight shellacking, 19-0, while Wake Forest rebounded with a 31-19 victory over Marshall.

Washington's Huskies rallied in the second half to sink Oregon State, 19-0. Southern California, held scoreless in the first half, found its bearings and chalked up a 13-0 verdict over Oregon. Nebraska had too much of everything, the Cornhuskers piling up a 53-2 landslide over Kansas.

Cadets-Harvard Tie
Harvard and Army battled to a 6-6 draw. The Cadets, scoring in the third, held on to the lead until the final chapter. V. M. I. booted the dope bucket, spilling Virginia U., 7-0. North Carolina U. had to give its best to flatten North Carolina State, 13-7.

Duke's Blue Devils capitalized on a break in the first period and went on to register a 13-0 victory over Colgate. The University of Kentucky turned on plenty of steam and walloped George Washington, 24-0. Northwestern remained among the nation's undefeated teams following a 27-7 victory over Wisconsin. Bill DeCorrevont, the Wildcat's ace, was hurt but is expected to play this week.

Powerful Texas A. & M. led by John Kimbrough, smothered Texas Christian in a hot sunshine, 21-7. While he failed to score, Kimbrough was active in other ways. Paul Christman and Missouri marched over Iowa State, 30-14. Navy took and won, tripping Drake, 19-0. Akron and Wayne fought a 7-7 draw.

Talented Georgia Tech came up with more tricks to hand Vanderbilt a 19-0 whitewashing. Mississippi State buried Howard, 40-7. Washington & Jefferson eked out a 7-6 nod over Dickinson. West Virginia squashed West Virginia Wesleyan, 14-0. Franklin-Marshall was extended but wound up with a 14-12 margin over Muhlenberg.

Lafayette snowed under Gettysburg, 45-6. L. S. U. vanquished Mercer, 20-0. Creighton scored 21 points in the final period to the Marquette 27 all under the lamp-lights. Villanova returned to the southwest and left on the short-end of a 7-0 setback administered by Baylor.

SLIPPERY ROCK GRIDDER TREATED
W. Stanley Robson, aged 22, a member of the Slippery Rock State Teachers College football team was brought to the Jameson Memorial hospital Saturday afternoon at 5:20 o'clock, where he was X-rayed for a possible fracture of the leg, suffered during the game with Indiana State Teachers College, Saturday afternoon.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Monday wash... Three members of New Castle's sports fraternity, shelved by injuries and illness are convalescing. "Fris" Fraser is almost back to normalcy following an extended illness. Tony "Bull" Camani, who was forced to quit Ben Franklin's eleven due to an appendicitis operation is back on his feet but will be unable to pursue grid activities. The third figure, Carl "Cacky" Gennock, struck on the eye by a baseball, is on the road to recovery.

Thursday afternoon's battle between George Washington and Ben Franklin, involving the city junior high title, should produce a truck load of thrills. The game, carded for Taggart stadium, starts at 3:30 o'clock. If Sammy Ciaza, New Castle's express, isn't one of the classic backs in the W. P. A. L., then who is? District critics, who have seen the bolt of lightning, agree that Ciaza has grid personality plus.

As usual, Massillon High is paring the country's high schools in victories as well as points. To date, the Tigers have amassed 351 points. To Sammy: The New Castle

High-Campbell Memorial game will be played on November 8 or 9, depending on the weather. To Jack: Elmer Layden coached Duquesne university (Pittsburgh) before assuming his duties at Notre Dame.

Wendell L. Wilkie, Republican nominee for the presidency of the United States, is an avid football fan. Wilkie's love for the game dates back to 1907 when he played left end for the Ellwood (Indiana) high school. While Wilkie now is six feet one inch tall and scales 220 pounds, he weighed about 135 pounds during his scholastic days. Wilkie checks the progress of the grid situation when he has a few moments to spare.

First year coaches are a jinx to Elmer Layden, Notre Dame head man. Five of the 11 games the Irish have lost under Layden in six years have been by a total of 14 points at the hands of new pilots. Roy Costey, Youngstown athlete who saw action against New Castle High when he played with East, is vying for a halcyon post at Notre Dame.

Oddity: The Oklahoma A. & M. varsity forced the freshman grid players to shave their heads.

Here And There IN SPORTS' LAND
Teddy Yarosz, former middle-weight champion, and Lloyd Marshall of San Francisco, meet tonight in a 10-round bout at Pittsburgh. Marshall floored Yarosz twice for counts of nine in a West Coast bout a year ago.

One week from tonight in The Arena, Frankie Moran of this city, will attempt to wipe out a knockout scored by Jackie Carter of Monaca, in Ellwood City, several months ago. Carter sent Moran to the ropes then caught Moran with a right to the jaw. Moran couldn't get off the ropes and was in such shape his seconds threw in the towel. Realizing that another "stop" along his fistic route would cost him plenty of bouts, Moran is training vigorously. There'll be two wrestling bouts and six boxing bouts next Monday on the Jefferson A. C. card.

Wabash Bears Lose To Canton
The Wabash Bears football team went to Canton Sunday and lost to the Canton Bulldogs 23 to 0. "Pug" Burgwin, former Massillon high star, and a member last year of the Brooklyn Dodgers professional team, scored all of the Canton points.

Burgwin is 6 feet 6 inches tall and weighs 260 pounds. The Bears had the ball on the five-yard line at one time, but could not punch it across. Two of the touchdowns made by Burgwin were on intercepted passes. Patsy Picirillo was the standout performer for the Bears.

RIFLE CLUB TO MEET TONIGHT
The New Castle Rifle club will have a practice shoot at the Cathedral range tonight at 7:30 o'clock. All members are asked to be present.

Haste, one of the most successful thoroughbred stallions owned by the Philadelphia sportsman Joseph E. Widener, will make the 1941 breeding season at the Spendthrift Farm of Leslie Combs 2d, near Lexington, Kentucky.

By GEORGE SILLMAN

"Get Up, you guys! Want to sleep all day?" From under the covers I tried to peek outside, and all that I could see was about two inches of frost on the opening day of our duck season. As Earl was shaking us guys by the feet.

Bill, Bob and Ervina and myself were the guests of Earl Bradley, our good friend up Petroleum Center, who had invited us to join him in a little duck hunting at Spout Lake. He had assured us that the birds were there, and all we had to do was knock them down.

Shortly after a couple dozen shivers, we were dressed and sitting around the breakfast table that Earl had just set. The ham was steaming, along with the oatmeal. "Get that under your belts" was Earl's command. "It's almost 4:30 and we have quite a ways to drive in the fog to the lake." The fog up in that country gets thick, like when new fangled thick milk shakes we have around here. I'll swear I saw them natives cutting it up in blocks and packing it in their ice houses that morning.

With the dirty dishes piled on the table we parted. Driving was very slow, and dangerous. "What time is it?" I questioned. "Oh! It's almost five bells" answered Bob, who was still half asleep. That guy could go to sleep in a boiler factory, and need a fire goop, to get him up. "We'll make it" answered Earl. "The season don't come in until nineteen minutes after six." The sun was trying to push its rays thru the fog, but with no avail.

Penn-Michigan Game Saturday Is Headliner

Two Unbeaten Elevens Will Clash At Ann Arbor, Many Teams Still Have Clean Slates

HARMON-REAGAN HIGH SCORERS
By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The football map remained virtually unchanged today after warfare over the week-end, but leadership in some sections will be endangered next Saturday, with the Pennsylvania-Michigan game at Ann Arbor topping the entire schedule in national interest. One of the mighty must fall, barring a dead-lock, in which case both would lose much prestige.

While those two are battling it out to preserve unblemished records, elsewhere about the country other elevens will be betting away in top flight engagements that will change conference standings and the whole trend of sectional races. There are forebodings of upsets to come.

Many Team Unbeaten
Highlights of the Penn-Michigan game will be the ball-running duel between Penn's Reagan and Michigan's Harmon, who maintained their scoring pace last Saturday. The former made 31 points as Princeton was crushed 46 to 28 and Harmon picked up 10 more points in leading Michigan to a 28 to 0 win over Illinois.

Thus did Penn and the Michigan-ers remain close to the head of the unbeaten, untied parade that includes Notre Dame, Cornell, Fordham, Tennessee, Texas A. & M., Stanford, Columbia, Minnesota, Northwestern, Boston College, Georgetown, Mississippi, Clemson, Navy, Texas, and a few lesser lights.

Bethany Defeats Westminster 9-0

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 21.—A powerful line attack combined with a highly coordinated pass-attack gave the Bethany Bisons a 9-0 victory over Westminster here Saturday on the Titans 86th annual Homecoming. A pass from the Titan 24 yard line, Cullison to Kuhn for Bethany, and a placement boot from the Westminster 10 by Bison Full-back Hart gave Bethany its 9 point margin and its fourth consecutive win of the season.

First downs were seven for Bethany to six for Westminster. Most of the Titans first-downs came in their own territory or mid-field, but Westminster lacked the necessary drive to carry the ball into the Bethany 36-yard line more than once. While the entire first quarter was played in the Bison territory, the Titans drive and defense bogged down in the second half.

The first Bison score came in the second quarter, when Bethany began a 68 yd. touchdown drive. The Bisons took J. Demoise punt on their own 32, from where Hart went through center to the Bethany 40. Cullison made it a first down on the Bethany 43, and followed with a fake spinner through the center of the line to the mid field strip. Hart picked up three through the line, and then went over right tackle to the Titan 24 yard line. On the next play, Cullison, Bison half, pass to Kuhn for the lone Bethany touchdown. Hart's kick was wide.

The 6-0 lead held until the third quarter. Bethany carried J. Demoise punt to the Westminster 46 yard line, from where Hart picked up 6 yard off tackle. Cullison picked on a spinner, and on the next play, passed to Kuhn for 29 yards, putting the ball on the Titan 17. Cullison went around right end for two, Harris hit right guard for four, and Hart drove to the Titan six-yard stripe. On the next play, however, Cullison was thrown for a loss back to the 14 but picked up four on the next play. At this point, Hart, Bison triple-threat star, unlimbered his kicking leg and booted a perfect field-goal from a difficult angle to give Bethany a 9-0 advantage, which they held throughout the game.

For the Titans, Demoise' punting featured the Westminster defense and although Bison Hart outdistanced the Titan freshman's kicking, Demoise consistently got off good boots in spite of being hurried on several occasions. Captain Tony Valcenti turned in several good runs, although running gains were held to a minimum by the snowy, slushy field.

Most thrilling play of the game was a 45 yard pass, Demoise to Evanoff in the third quarter, to the Bison 20-yard line; but on the next play, the Titans lost their touchdown threat as Bethany intercepted a Westminster pass. The Titans complete their home-season next Saturday, when they meet Thiel in a Dads' Day game.

Rich Horse Man Meets Tragic Death
(International News Service)
KATONAH, N. Y., Oct. 21.—The tragic accidental death of James Butler, 49, president of the Empire City Racing Association and a well known millionaire horse man, cast a pall of sadness over the fall opening of his track at which he was to have officiated today.

Butler, son of the founder of a grocery store chain, was apparently killed instantly when he was hurled first from his spirited young horse which failed to take a jump on the estate of a neighbor, Robert Chambers. The horse, which Butler was schooling for hunting, was found astride the fence jump. Luke O'Brien, Butler's secretary, said the horse had apparently been unable to see the top bar of the 3½-foot fence in the late afternoon twilight.

"Knowing Mr. Butler's wishes," O'Brien said, he ordered today's opening of the Empire City track to proceed as scheduled. Butler leaves a widow and three children.

INSULATING BOARD
Structural insulating board is practically impervious to air leakage under ordinary conditions. The amount of infiltration directly through insulating board products, when used in combination with other materials, usually is insignificant even at high wind velocities. This factor is reflected in the lower heating costs of board insulated homes.

AMERICA'S FORESTS
Out of 830,000,000 acres of virgin timber only about 85,000,000 remain uncut in the United States.

Serial Numbers To Be Assigned

All Registered Men 21-36 To Be Given Number By Draft Boards

DRAWING TO GIVE ORDER NUMBER LATER

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—There are two phrases that will be on the lips of most Americans soon, particularly the 17,000,000 men between 21 and 36 who registered under the draft law last Wednesday.

The phrases are:
1. Serial number.
2. Order number.
Every potential conscript will be given both—the serial number within the next few days and the order number on the day (probably Oct. 29) the national draft lottery is held.

The serial number will be assigned by local draft boards. Cards of registrants will be shuffled in haphazard fashion and then numbered. The number of each card and registrant then will be posted. That is the serial number.

The order number will be drawn in the lottery. It will reveal the order in which questionnaires, subjecting registrants to a possible year's military training, will be sent out.

Thus, if a local board assigns a registrant the serial number 258 and the number 258 is drawn first in the lottery, that registrant's order number will be No. 1. He will therefore be the first man to be sent a draft questionnaire. If he is married, he will be deferred, but if he is single and otherwise eligible, the drawing of his serial number as the first number in the lottery will mean that he will be the first man to go to the army from his local area.

WORD RECEIVED OF MISSIONARY'S ILLNESS

An air-mail letter has just been received from Rev. Frederick A. Smith of Colombia, South America, to the effect that his wife, Della (Collins) Smith, underwent an operation for appendicitis last Wednesday morning. She was rushed to the only American doctor within many miles of their station, and was operated upon.

According to the letter, Mrs. Smith is getting along splendidly. Elinita (Spanish for Helen), their only daughter, has been placed in the care of another missionary during Mrs. Smith's recovery.

Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Collins, 411 Epworth street. The Smith's address is Gigante, Huila, Colombia, South America.

Croton Avenue Resurfacing Is Near Completion

Only Few Days Of Good
Weather Needed To Finish
Extensive Improvement

Resurfacing of Croton avenue, which has been under way for about two weeks, is now near completion and with a few days of favorable weather, the job should be finished this week.

The black-top coating, two inches thick, which the state is covering the old pavement with, has been applied over most of the length of the street to a point about a hundred yards north of East Washington street, it was noted this morning.

The old pavement was torn up just north of the intersection with East Washington street, where there was a low spot, in order to secure better drainage at this point, and this work was being rushed this morning.

With the exception of a few places in upper Croton, which were left open to expedite traffic, most of the job is now completed, it is stated by the contractor in charge.

Both Candidates To Speak In State In Present Week

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—Major fireworks in Pennsylvania's increasingly heated presidential campaign promise to center in Philadelphia this week as leading political figures headed by President Roosevelt scheduled important speeches in this metropolis.

President Roosevelt will make the first of five "outright political" speeches in Philadelphia's convention hall on Wednesday night. His Republican opponent, Wendell Willkie, invades the state with train platform addresses at Erie and Sharon on Thursday and at Scranton on Friday, when a principal talk is listed from Wilkes-Barre.
